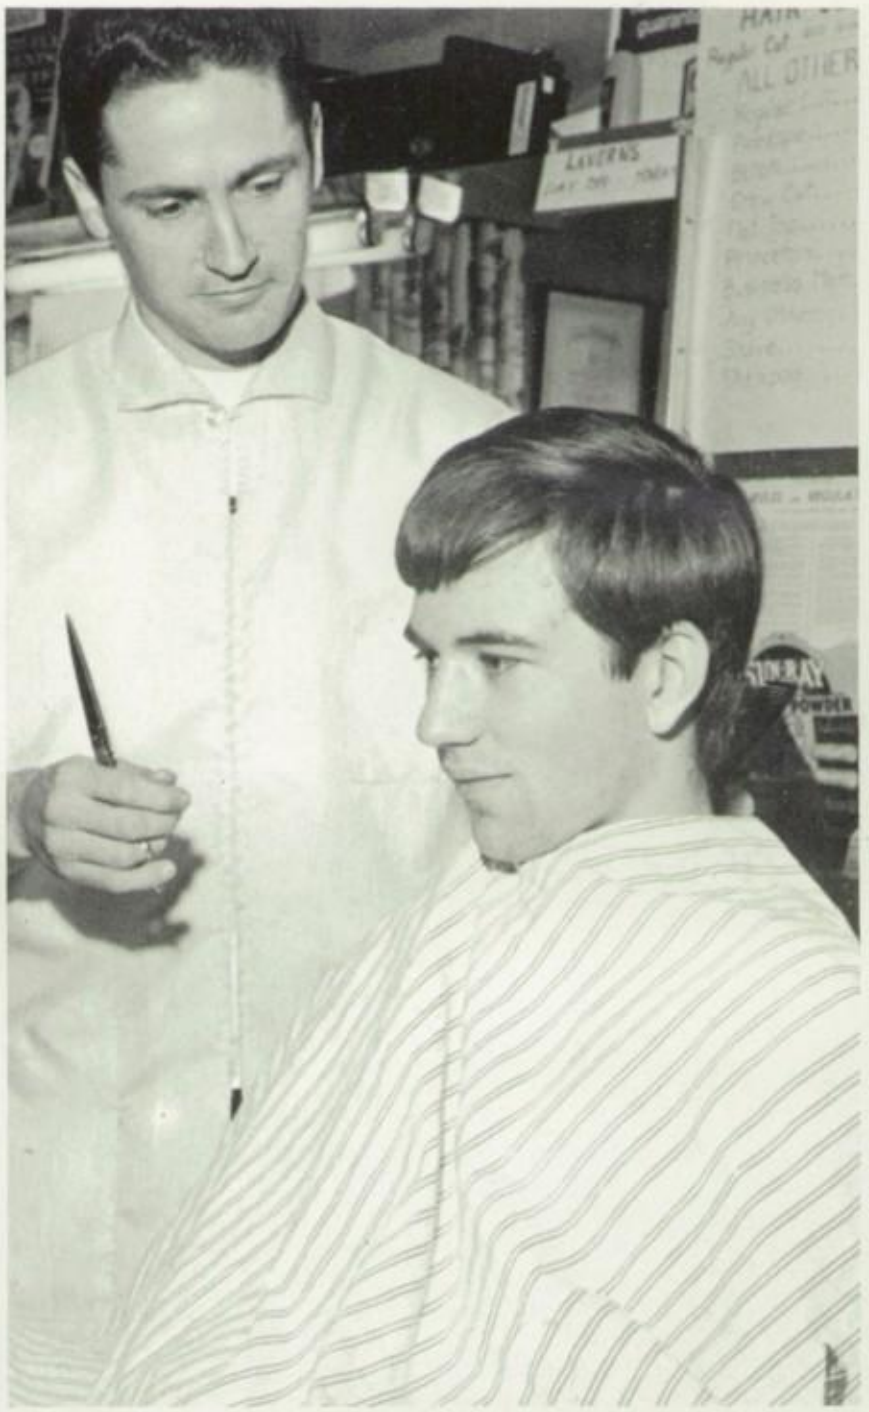
Elida wins first leg on new Bulldog football trophy sponsored by Ada, Grove and Elida Student Councils. Jim Fockler makes presentation to Mr. Leis



Edict of December 24. Boys must get hair cuts or face suspension, January 3. Unhappily, Dave Libert complies.

Hi! Here's Life at Elida

Elida High School, on November 2, 1966, had its biggest snow fall, 13 inches.

ABOVE: Dodd May weighs quality of calcium carbonate to prepare a solution to test for carbon dioxide. BELOW: "This blasted layout!" Marsha Gordon prepares layout for one of the yearbook pages.

BELOW: Prior to the homecoming game against the State's 4th ranked Bluffton Pirates, nearly 500 Elida students met for a giant bonfire rally behind the school. Final score 12-0 in favor of Bluffton. Elida, however, was the only school to come close to the Pirates. LOWER LEFT: Jan Miller warms up his 650 BSA as he and Gary Broshes prepare to take off. LOWER RIGHT: The take off.

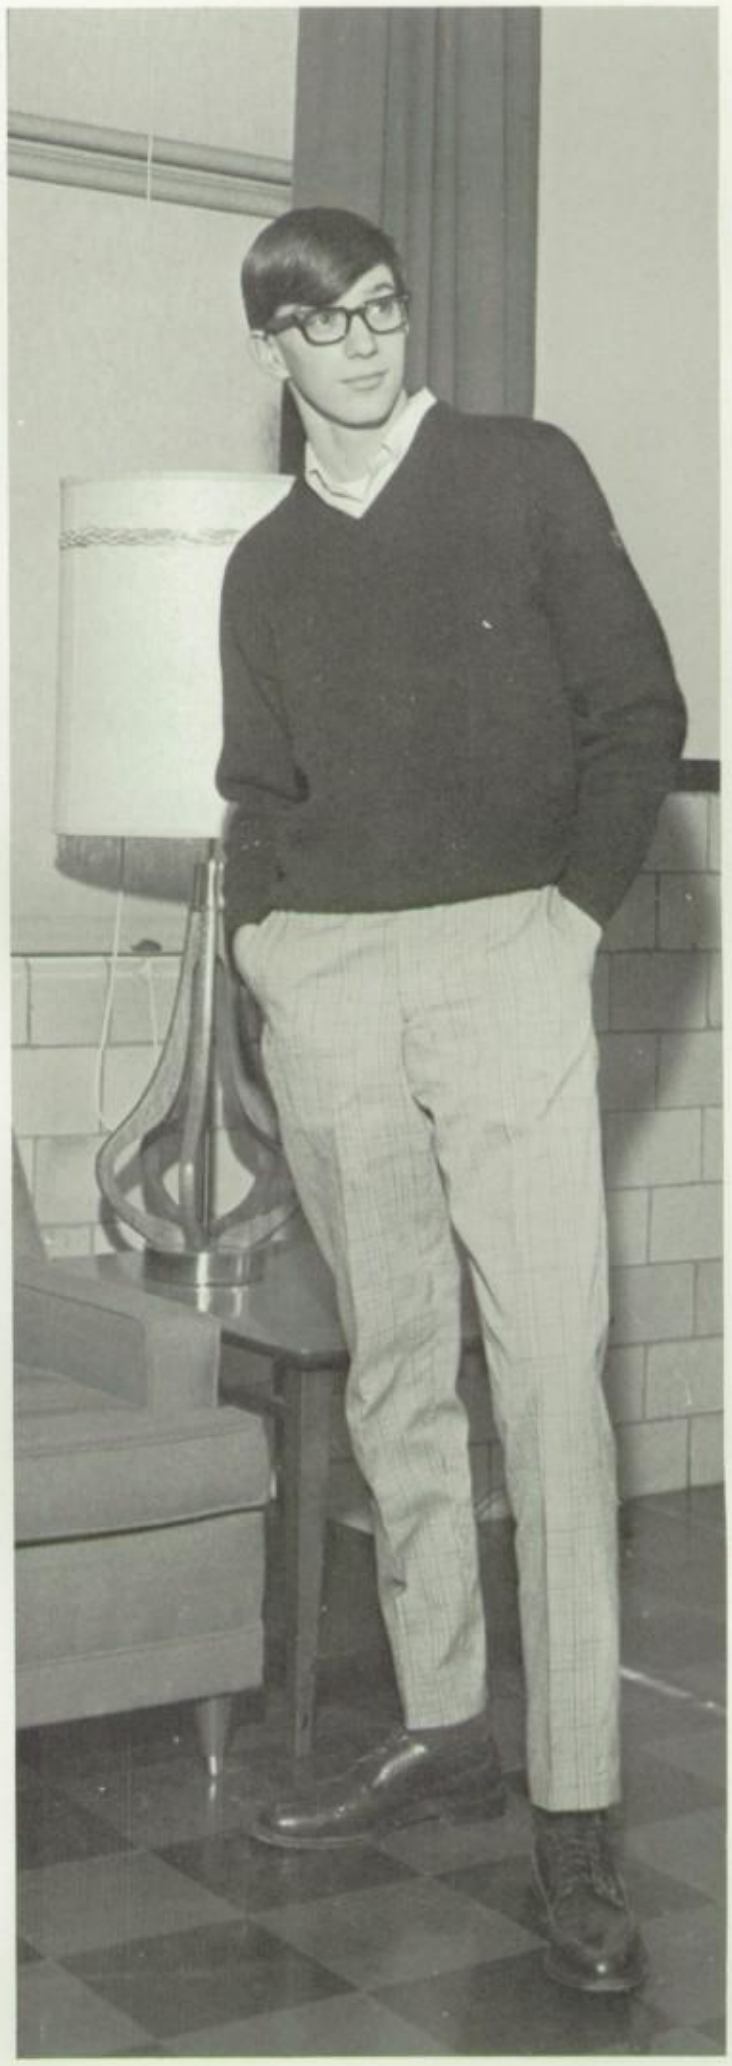
It's What's Happening, Baby . . .

It's the slamming of lockers by busy students preparing to leave school. It's the gutsy sound of motorcycles tearing down the blacktop driveway. It's the sound of teenagers dancing to an old favorite after a football game. It's the blare of the band and the pounding of the percussion section at a Homecoming halftime show. It's the shouts of the happy organization members when they receive the coveted A+, gold medal, or best chapter award. It's the sobbing of pep club members whose minions leave the basketball court after defeat. It's the raucous laughter of students leaving club meetings, leaving with Christmas cards, candy bars, or pencils to sell to the weary public. It's the sounds of silence as fingers tap or pages flip in an otherwise quiet study hall. It's all these things and more, man. It turns us on 'cause it's what's happening baby!

It's What's "In" at Elida

"Hey! Hey! We're the Monkees . . ." Strains of this and other songs by the Monkees, the Mama's and the Papa's, and the Lovin' Spoonful drifted through the minds of many Elida students during 1966-67. Besides listening to popular songs, Elida students spent much of their leisure time with ouija boards, "Twister" games, and listening to Bill Cosby records. TV shows concerned with violence were especially popular, like "The Avengers", and "The Huntley-Brinkley Report". Yes, these were among the fads of Elida during 1966-67 . . . It's what's happening.



ABOVE: Rick Crawford wears the smart collegiate look, including wing-tip shoes, popular with many of the older Elida "in crowd".

LEFT: Pant suits and knickers made the scene at Elida this year. Saddle shoes began a strong comeback. Karen Blair and Cathy Pratt show the popular apparel.

"Ahoy there" Randy Mauch, Donna Runyan and Walter Betz sport the popularly revived pea coats.

1966 Prom Theme, Castle in the Sky

"Hey, don't lean on that pillar you clod!" Such exclamations were heard throughout the gym as the class of 1967 prepared the scene for the most spectacular evening of the year.

May 14, 1966 found the gym transformed into a dreamy castle complete with "stone" walls and torch lights. Johnny McCoy and his band provided music from the minstrel stand.

Suspense and curiosity ended as Seniors Bob Markwood and Barb McClain, king and queen and their junior class counter parts Bill Campbell, prince, and Cathy Pratt, prom princess were crowned.

Following the dance the traditional post prom was held at the Clemems Building with the Charades providing music for the occasion. By dawn most couples were ready to go home to get some sleep. The curtain fell on a most unforgettable evening.

Jane Cheney Becomes Fifth Elida Rose

"Miss Elida Rose 1966, — Jane Cheney!!" On October 7, 1966, the crowd in Kraft Memorial Stadium roared its approval as Miss Cheney became the 27th annual Homecoming Queen. Crowning the queen was last year's Homecoming Queen, Barb Lukehart. Terry Burkholder, emcee, took charge of the pre-game ceremonies. For the first time the queen was presented with a football signed by the football team. The band performed prior to the game and at half time. Jan Miller, head drummer, composed and arranged a drum solo entitled, "Lover" which he performed at half-time.

The night was slightly marred by Bluffton's victory over Elida but it was a memorable evening none the less. Appearing at the Homecoming dance held in the New Gym, were the "Wild Things," a teen rhythm and blues group.

Carnival; It's a Mod, Mod, Mod, Mod World

"And the winning class is . . . !" This is the most awaited announcement heard every year at the annual Elida P.T.A. Carnival which was held on October 24, 1966. This year's carnival featured games and concessions sponsored by classes and organizations. For the first time, the P.T.A. raffled off a color television as well as a portable black and white set. The evening's main attraction was the carnival show, It's a Mod, Mod, Mod, Mod World. The climax of the show came with the crowning of the carnival king and queen, Seniors, Terry Burkholder and Sharon Pierce.

Magazine Receipts Highest in Ten Years

"Would you like to buy a magazine subscription from the Curtis Company to help support our annual?" Questions like this were common around the Elida area this fall, as the annual magazine drive was the biggest success in recent years. The Reflector sponsors this drive along with the Curtis Circulation Company. Proceeds from this drive help to pay for our yearbooks which cost the Reflector over $5000 each year to produce.

An added incentive to the students are the prizes awarded to the top salesmen and classes. This year's top salesmen were Jim Cloyd, Marcia Nixon, Darrell Miller, and Bonnie Daniels. Transistor radios and season passes to basketball games were among the prizes they and others received from the Curtis Company as a result of their efforts.

Improving on last year's second place finish, the senior class contributed more money than any other class at Elida; and thus, they received a $60 bonus for their treasury.

This year's drive went rather slowly in the initial stages. Eventually, however; all four classes gained momentum and made an excellent finish. In fact, the final total of all four classes was $2,458.02, a tribute to the dedication and enthusiasm of the entire school.

This year's mystery student, Carol Hermon, was the winner of a fine AM-FM transistor radio.

June 1966: Elida Graduates 149

Larry Augsburger encourages his classmates to strive for higher goals.

As the two double lines of seniors wearing blue and gold robes took the first step into the gym, a hush came over the audience of the seventy-third Elida High School Commencement. Following the invocation by Rev. James Kuhn, Larry Augsburger presented his salutatory address. He was then followed by the co-valedictorians, William Bowers and Philip Whalen. They all stressed the fact that the graduating class had the ability to meet great challenges of the world.

Preceding the class gift, a check for a thousand dollars, presented by class president Tim Kennedy, was the moving class address by Dr. Lorrene Ort of Bowling Green State University. Dr. Ort encouraged the seniors to strive for success and to always maintain a strong devotion for God and the Nation.

After Dr. Ort's address, Mr. Roger Hyde, president of the Board of Education, presented the diplomas to climax the high school careers of 149 young adults.

A reception by their families and friends awaited the graduates, each reflecting on the class motto, "We have opened the door, have we the courage to go beyond?"

Elida seniors solemnly enter the gymnasium for commencement.

Juniors Present "Rest Assured"

"I'm a gonna knocka your block off," said Luigi, played by Frank Mack, whose regional dialect broke up the audience.

On Friday and Saturday nights, the 18th and 19th of November, 1966, the junior class presented the bright comedy, Rest Assured, by John Payton. This "ghostly" comedy captivated the playgoers with its suspenseful and humorous three acts.

The cast included Carol Sroufe, Ed Layman, Frank Mack, Bruce Gromen, Roberta Slechter, Betsy Mauk, Willa Bennett, Linda Chandler, Gary Broshes, Judy Hadding, Candy McGinnis, Barry Musser, Claire Paxton, Karen Tucker, and Cheryl Willet. Mrs. Rosetta Bouvier directed the play.

Sandra Schmenk Chosen Reflector Queen VIII

Popular and industrious Elida senior Sandy Schmenk is the 1967 Reflector Queen. Members of the annual staff chose Sandy on the basis of her charm, personality and unselfish dedication to her school. Sandy epitomizes the enthusiastic spirit of Elida. Besides serving in Girl's Glee, Pep Club and G.A.A., Sandy sacrificed many hours in painting Elida's newly designed coat-of-arms on the cafeteria wall.

Her lively spirit and amiable smile always contribute to the friendly atmosphere of Elida. As Sandy herself explains, "I do not want to merely take a passive part in either my schools' activities or life itself."

The 1967 Reflector staff takes great pride in honoring Sandy Schmenk as Reflector Queen VIII!

Original Skit Presented at Latin Banquet

A funny thing happened to me on the way to the vomitorium . . . I didn't make it! May 5 marked the highpoint of the Latin student's year — their annual Latin banquet. Besides a fine meal of chicken, beans, eggs, fruit and pastries, served by slaves auctioned before the banquet, the students provided entertainment between courses. The highlight was a playlet on Nero's life written by two of the Latin students.

Jerry Gotthardt, toastmaster, kept things running smoothly. The evening closed as the second year students initiated the firs' year students into the club.

Good hostesses are few and far between, so Bob Markwood serves Bill Runyan and Dave Weaver.

Auctioneer Jerry Stemen gets high price for slave, Cathy Bivona.

Master of ceremonies, Jerry Gotthardt and Penny Walters carry on a lively conversation, while slave, Barb McClain, serves Mr. Leis.

Elida Scientists Sponsor First Fair

Young scientists displayed their creative genius on March 5, 1966 at the last Elida Science fair. The fair was sponsored this year by the Elida Science Club with advisor Mr. Thomas White. Geology, astronomy, electronics, chemistry, biology, and botany were but a few of the subjects for projects.

Entries were judged on the basis of originality, scientific method, display, and most important the knowledge acquired by the student. Douglas Raver's controlled element chamber received top honors in the state.

Fifteen from Senior High Inducted into 1966-1967 Bulldog Hall of Fame

So proudly we hail! Academic and organization accolades acquired by her students again make Elida Senior High School tops among area schools.

No Allen County school had as high a percentage of her pupils ranking in the district state scholarship tests. No other area school captured a single statewide or national club office. Our top position among area schools, therefore remains unchallenged.

Heading all county students in the district-state subject tests is Larry Augsburger ranking fourth in Ohio in world history. Clark Slade achieved a state honorable mention in the same subject.

English student Barbara Michael received an honorable mention in the state of Ohio. Honorable mentions were also earned by Sharon Bailey in Latin I, Kathleen Carnes in Bookkeeping and Jerry Gotthardt in United States history. Margie Deane led all area students in Latin II with her seventeenth place ranking in the state and Susan Van Dyke was ranked sixteenth in Ohio in French.

With the installation of Keaton Vandemark as national vice-president of the Future Farmers of America at the Kansas City convention, great honor came to Elida school. Additional club honors were won by Barbara Lemke, elected state secretary of the Future Business Leaders of America and Mike Lybarger, elected vice-president of the Northwest Area Student Council.

Reflector editor Bob Markwood wins Hall of Fame recognition for his 1966 Reflector was one of four in Ohio to earn an A+ from the National School Yearbook Association. For the first time the Reflector was also awarded the top (Medalist) rating from the Columbia University Student Press Association.

Though athletically Elida has been experiencing lean years, there have been some outstanding sports stars. Danny Earehart was made a member of the Lima News all city first team in basketball. Lonnie Lehman and Bob Barnt won all city first team berths in football. Barnt's teammates also awarded him the Golden Helmet as the team's most valuable member.

These are Elida's greats for 1966-1967. Her students, faculty and administration thus honor them.

Student Council Adopts Coat

"Elida has the strongest student council in the area." said Mr. Robert Shackelford, former principal of Shawnee, at the area student council meeting. This statement, however, wasn't necessary because the record speaks for itself.

The council has sponsored numerous projects and services. Among these are; the clothing drive which netted eleven-hundred pounds of clothing for families in Appalachia, Homecoming activities which it organizes, handbooks which it makes and distributes to ease frustration of the first week of school, and a school spirit assembly to overcome students' apathy. It also adopted a coat of arms and a blazon, and in collaboration with the administration revised the dress code.

This year the school board donated a room to be used by the various clubs. The council, through money-making projects such as the book and stationery sale, will furnish and maintain this room.

Jim Cloyd, Barb Butschy, and Janet Stirn sort clothing for the annual student council clothing drive.

"Oh, I just hate to erase carbon marks!" "Mr. Sluss, what time should we be here for the deadline, Saturday?" These are some of the sounds that can be heard from the annual staff, which produces the best yearbook in Ohio. In fact, Columbia University Student Press Association awarded the 1966 Reflector the Medalist rating, the highest award possible. The National School Yearbook Association also presented Elida with an A+ rating, awards which the staff takes great pride in. These awards are the result of hours of effort put forth by many dedicated individuals. From composing writeups, planning layouts and cropping pictures, to sponsoring the magazine drive and the sale of individual pictures, the Elida Annual Staff is always trying to publish a yearbook which our classmates can be proud of. As Mr. Paul Sluss, yearbook advisor says, "We don't want a fair book or even a good book; it's got to be the best!"

1966 Reflector; 67 Staff Is Challenged

Bulldog Review Subscriptions Exceed 400

Has the Bulldog Review improved this year? Ask any of its four hundred subscribers and you will hear a hearty "Yes!" Along with a new advisor, Mr. Larry Sprees, the Bulldog Review staff also gained many new ideas. For the first time in several years, subscriptions were offered to the students to assure them of receiving a copy of the paper.

New columns were added to arouse the reader's interest: "Around the Dogpen" satirized school happenings; "The Best of Betz" presented down to earth opinions of the student body; and "Lesh's Off the Leash" brought forth an interesting editorial in each issue.

This year the Bulldog Review staff began a tradition, hopefully to be carried on in the coming years, by presenting a football, autographed by the football team, to the Homecoming Queen, Jane Cheney.

Assembling the pages of the Bulldog Review is sometimes the job of Barb Lemke, Carol Trautman, Sandy Schmenk and Jean Junglas.

Smiling with satisfaction, Sharon Heffner, news editor, and Larry Long, editor, enjoy a finished product of the Bulldog Review.

"Best of Betz", a student opinion column, entertains Sharon Pierce and Karen Blair while Walter Betz, author of the column, listens to their reactions.

Bulldog Review advisor, Mr. Larry Spees, explains principles of journalism to new staff members Debbie Wagner and Vera Wapperom.

"The multilith is easy to operate," explains John Lesh to Dodd May, Craig McCaughey and Tim McKinney.

Enjoying her task, Jill Evers prepares headlines for an issue of the Bulldog Review with the varigraph.

Typing and proofreading are jobs of Phyllis Risner, Farol McCall, Mary Askins, Cathy Scholfield, Judy Hadding and Corliss Phillips.

Staffs Perform Many Thankless Tasks

Shelving returned books, finding magazines for students, and delivering library slips to study hall keep Elida library help busy. Girls in grades seven through twelve work in junior and senior high libraries during one of their study halls.

Helpers in the various offices are kept occupied typing absentee lists, answering phones, and running errands for our busy administrators. Both of these groups provide valuable services to our school.

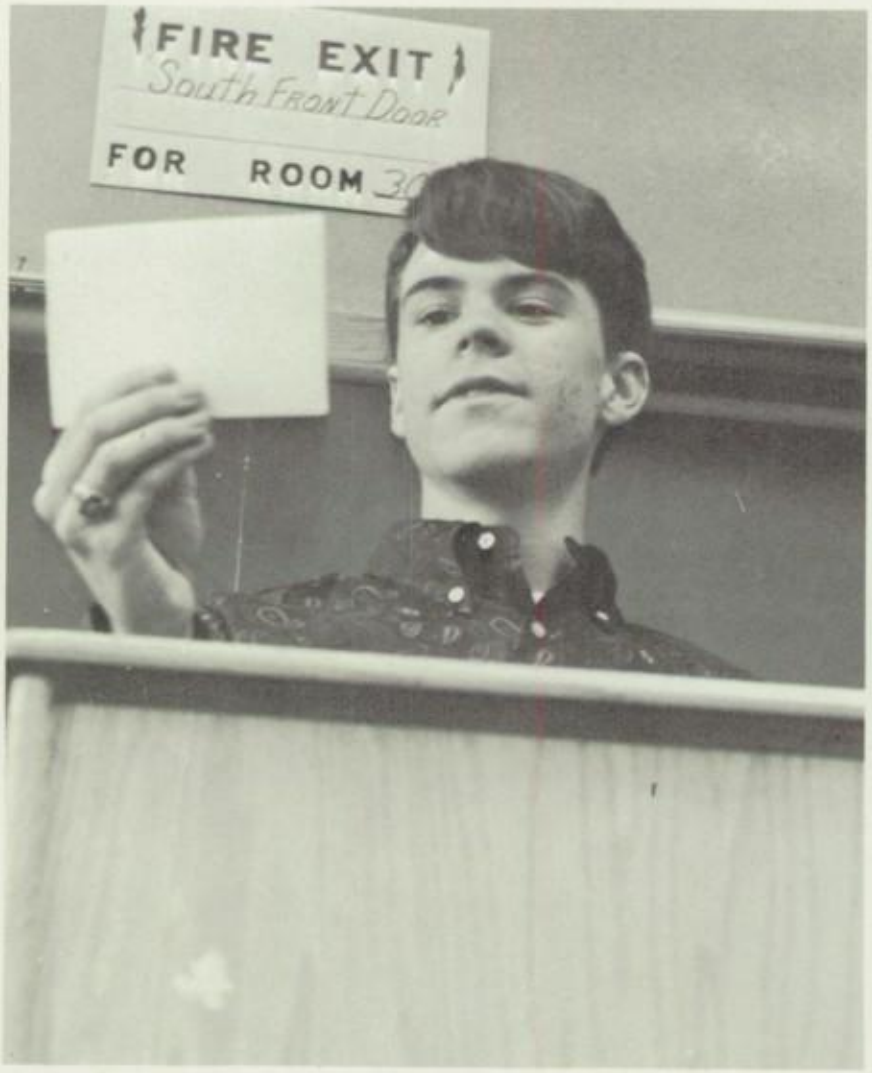
Varsity Debaters Judge Foreign Aid Merits



In mock debate Terry Pranses polishes up on techniques for Saturday's contest.

"Honorable judge, worthy opponents. . .;" so begins another debate. Despite a lack of experience, the newly founded debate team has done quite well. This is due to hard work by the members and largely to the excellent guidance of Mrs. Mozelle Pickering. She has had vast experience and has led other teams to state.

The resolution this year is, "That the foreign aid program of the United States should be limited to non-military assistance." The debate club is divided into affirmative and negative teams. Their teams travel to different schools on Saturdays at the request of their hosts.

Listening carefully to Mrs. Pickering's instructions, Jerry Stemen learns basic skills of debate.

"Fight, fight, fight harder!" cry the reserve cheerleaders, Sheila Mason, Darlene Sackinger, and Linda Bok.

National Cheerleading Association

"V-I-C-T-O-R-Y; that's the Bulldog battle cry!" This is the ever-encouraging spirit of the Elida cheerleaders. Varsity, junior high, and reserve squads strive to stimulate team support among the students, faculty, and parents.

On Tuesday evenings, they devote their time toward perfecting cheers and developing ideas for skits to perform at pep assemblies.

This year's varsity cheerleaders attended a special clinic at Bowling Green State University. This gave them the opportunity to learn new skills in cheerleading and new ideas on boosting student participation.

By maintaining strong support from students at games and pep assemblies (especially when team records are sub-standard), the cheerleaders work hard in their efforts to make Elida a school to be proud of.

Senior high cheerleaders Cathy Scholfield, Nancy Stein, Margie Deane, Jane Cheney, Janet Stirn, Donna Runyan, and Bulldog, Sandy Schmenk, lead pep club in a rousing cheer of victory.

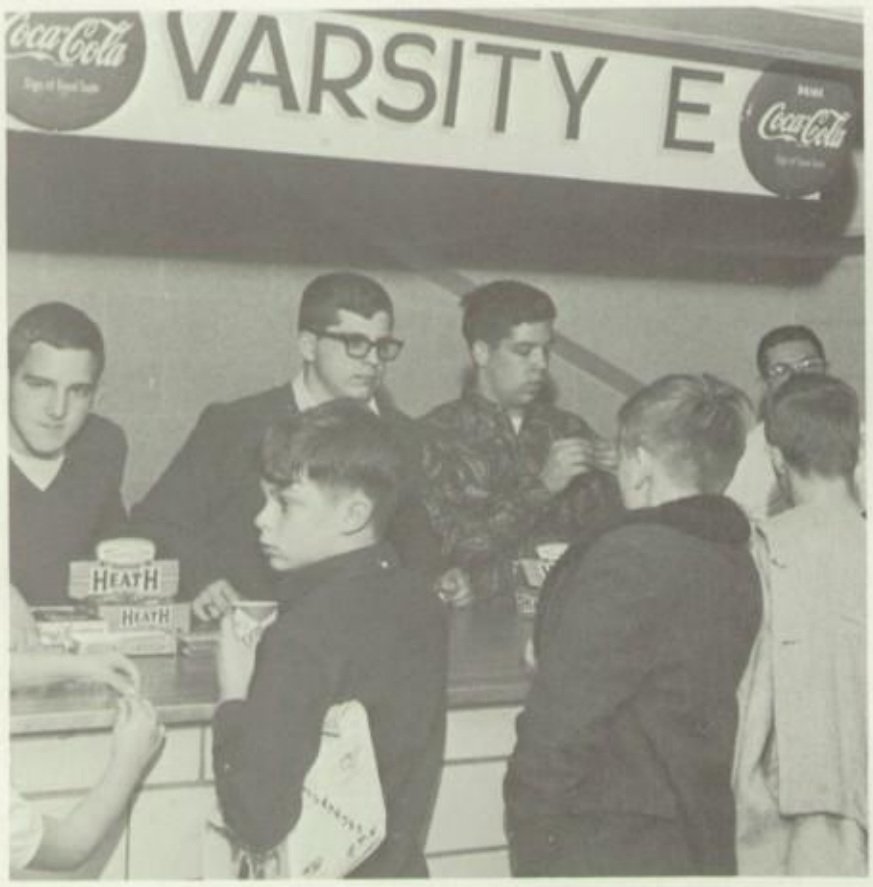
Proud Lettermen, Thirty-one Strong

Varsity E is composed of those athletes who have been awarded a varsity letter in one or more of Elida's major sports. The purpose of the group is raising money for supplementing the receipts of the athletic department. This is done by running the concession stand at all home basketball games.

Profits earned by Varsity E go mainly for the purchasing of the athletic letters and the gold neck charms awarded the senior members.



Duties of the concession stand are shared by many Varsity E members like Jeff Markwood, Bill Baker, Mitchel Furry, under the guidance of Mr. Clayton Protsman.

Preparing for half time rush, Jeff Markwood bags popcorn.

Pep Club officers Nancy Stein, secretary; Jane Strayer, publicity chairman; Sue Clark, president; Barb Butschy, vice-president and Linda Shawhan, treasurer plan a pep assembly.

"Let's go Elida, let's go, go, go!" This is a familiar yell of the newly organized Pep Club. The Pep Club established a new constitution this year to operate the club more efficiently. Membership of the Pep Club is limited to eighty members with the upperclassmen having priority. These girls meet every Tuesday before the home basketball games.

They practice for home games, discuss ways of raising school spirit, and in general try to better the enthusiasm of the student body toward the valiant efforts of our athletes. Extra points may be gained by making some of the many posters seen around school, by participating in car caravans to away games and by attending tournament games.

Much has been added to Elida's school spirit through the enthusiastic effort of these girls and their advisor Miss Edwards.

Future Teachers' Club Inducts 12

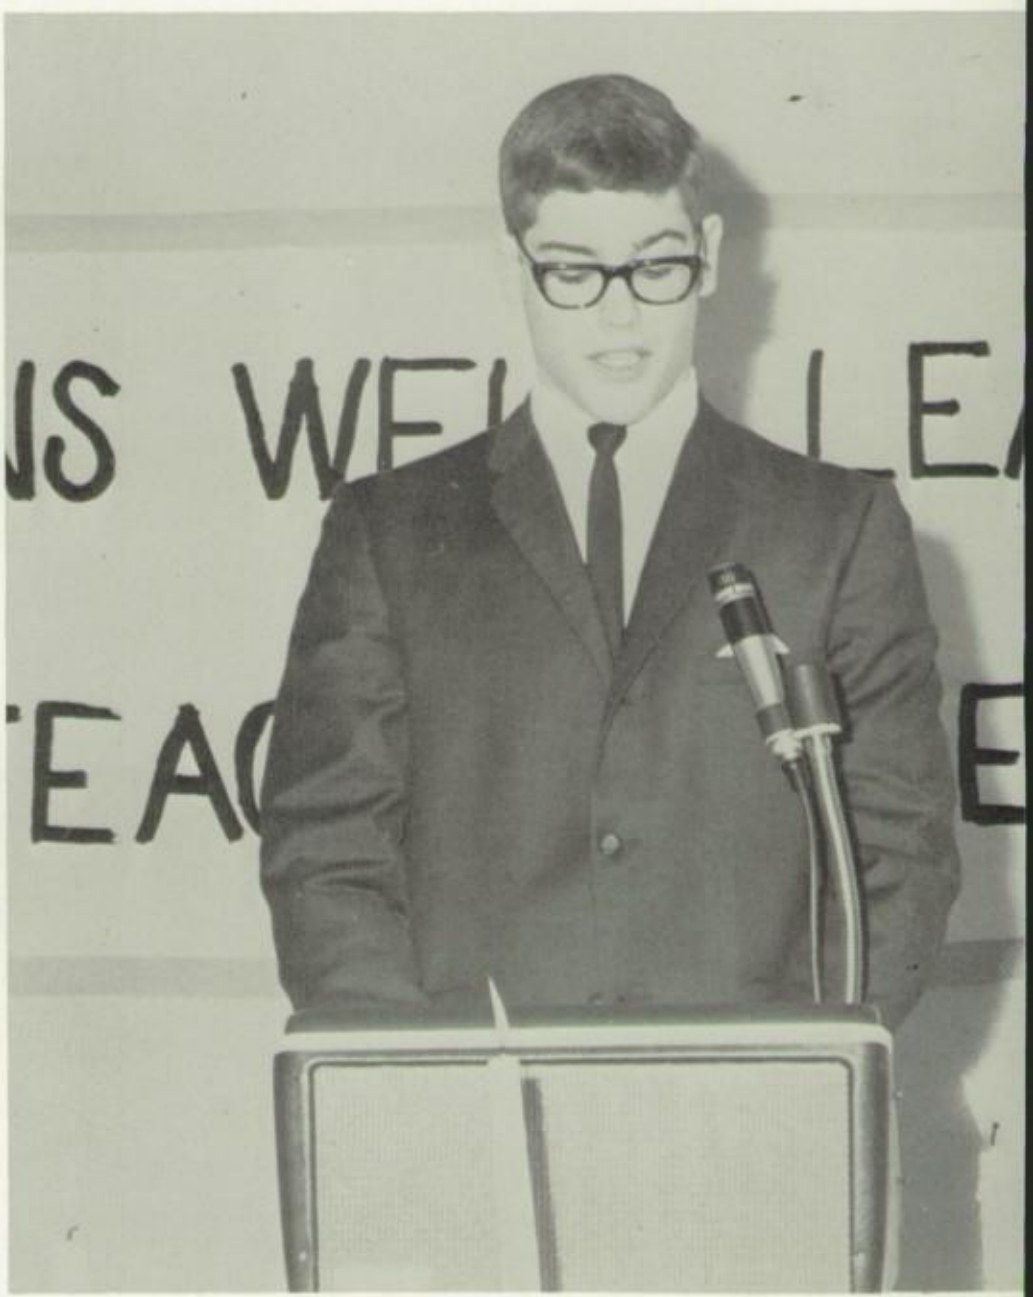
Securing an adequate and continuing supply ot effective teachers in America's schools is the major objective of the Elida Future Teachers Chapter. The program is directed toward orienting high school students to the teaching profession, guiding them, and counseling with them to help them evaluate themselves in relation to teaching as a career. The 12 new students added to the club last spring at the first F.T.A. banquet, enrich the club fully.

Students in grades 9 to 12 are eligible to join. F.T.A. members are required to have an average academic grade of C+ (2.5) or better.

Meeting every third Monday night of a month in the school cafeteria, the organization discusses such profit making projects as car washes, decal sales, cake raffles, dances, and having a carnival concession.

The Elida Chapter of Future Teachers of America has received several outstanding awards in which they take great pride. Credit for all efforts of the group can be given to the advisor Mrs. Eva Hinegardner.

In October, the F.T.A. went to the annual conference at Otterbein College. In the spring, F.T.A. has a banquet for the installation of new officers and new members. Colleges are paid visits by Elida's F.T.A. chapter, and at meetings films and guest speakers fill the slate.



At the Elida's F.T.A. banquet, John Lee gives his acceptance speech and pledge and takes over the program.

Barb Lemke, State F.B.L.A. Secretary

Giving students a better understanding about the importance of business is the prime objective of the Elida Future Business Leaders of America. This will prepare them for their jobs in the future. At the last Ohio F.B.L.A. conference, Barb Lemke was voted as the State F.B.L.A. Secretary. Elida's Parliamentary Procedure team is preparing to attend the State Parliamentary Procedure exhibit. They will compete against other schools in Ohio.

The Elida Chapter F.B.L.A. meets once a month in room 2 on Thursday nights, and does numerous projects such as helping the needy people at Christmas time with fruit baskets, selling Christmas cards, holding skating parties, and having camp fire parties with other organizations.

Bowling Teams Divide into Three Leagues

"You mean I can't wear any make-up to school tomorrow?" wail the G.A.A. initiates. Initiation is the first step in becoming a member of the Girls' Athletic Association. Miss Edwards directs the girls toward raising the level of sportsmanship and fair play in all athletic activities.

Money making projects include the Homecoming Dance, selling mums and basketball schedule pencils, and working in the football concession stand.

All members have the opportunity to participate in a wide variety of activities. Bowling, interscholastic and intramural basketball, bike rides, playnights, and a spring track meet provide recreation for Elida girls.

At the end of the year, trophies are awarded to high point senior, and the first place bowling team. Girls who have accumulated at least twenty-five points receive letters, pins or medals. Junior high G.A.A., open to eighth and ninth graders, prepares the girls for membership in the large senior high club. Both organizations help create better school spirit.

New Bond Issue, Renewal Levy Passed By

ABOVE: In spite of the ever present demands of his job, Mr. C. Roland Swank finds time for golfing, fishing, and photography. He received his A.B. from Bluffton College and his M.A. from Ohio State. He is Elida's superintendent.

BELOW: Reading occupies much of the spare time of our high school Principal, Howard Leis. He received his B.A. degree at Ohio Northern and his M.S. in Education at Indiana University.

Right before Christmas many moans and groans were heard coming from the boys of Elida. The board approved an administrative rule requiring boys to cut their long hair. The board, headed by Charles Friedman, president and Don Kruse, vice-president, made many minor decisions like this throughout the year.

Major problems facing the board were of a financial nature. It was in its worst financial straits in nearly twenty years according to clerk, H. G. Boate. In desperation, it sought financial support from the electorate. True to form, district voters approved a renewal of a three mill levy and an additional three mill levy. The board members expressed deep gratitude.

Secretaries Provide A Helping Hand

"Oh, Trauma! I left my history notebook at home. Quick, Mrs. Sodders, call my mom!" Not all the students at Elida are fully aware of the countless tasks our secretarial staff performs.

Typing out notices from the different offices, and assisting the superintendent, school board and principals in countless ways are their main jobs. Besides helping the various administrators and the faculty, they provide numerous services for the students.

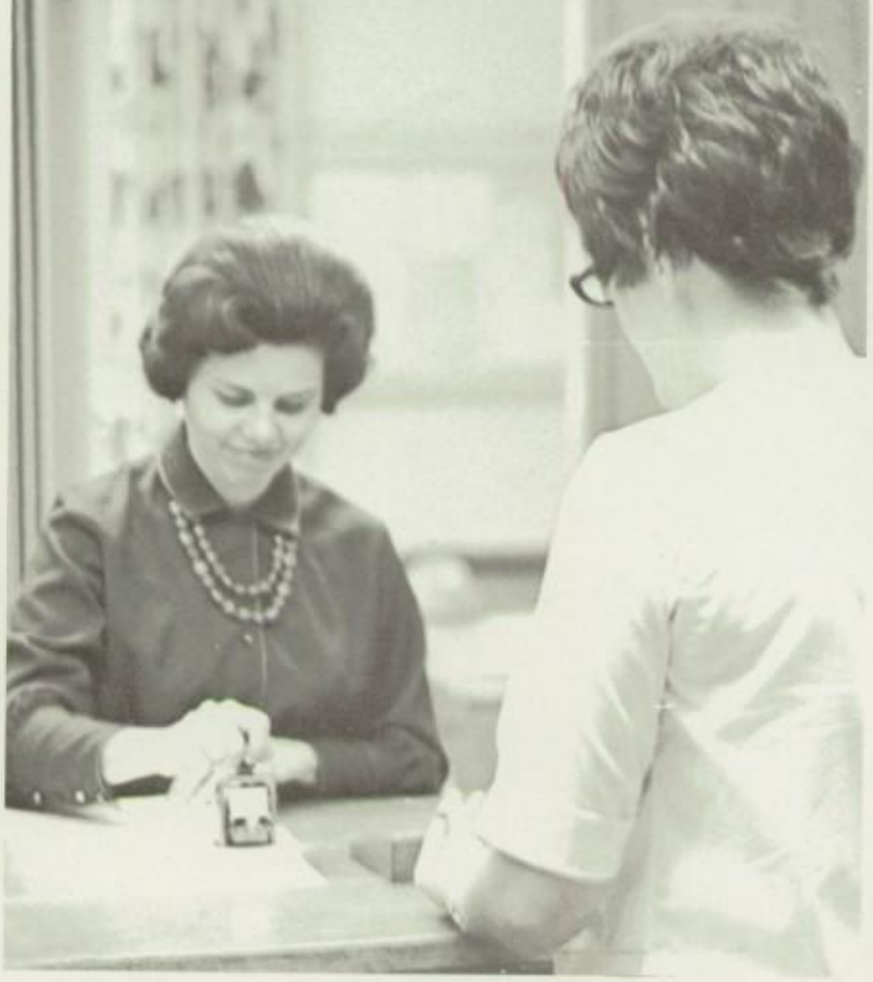
The secretaries of Elida's various offices offer vital training to the secretaries of tomorrow.

Mrs. Maxine Downard divides her time working for the junior and senior high guidance counselors.

Mrs. Aileen Gordon serves as secretary to junior high principal, Mr. Radulovich.

Mrs. Jan Sodders helps Mr. Leis in the senior high office at Elida.

Mrs. Marian Holtzapple, the school secretary makes sure her books are in order.



Janet Smith follows the instructions of Mrs. Jan Sodders, High school secretary.

Mrs. Jean Kahler works in the general office in addition to being the school board's secretary.

Board Hires New Dean of Boys, Dean of Girls

"I think you'll get along better in high school if we make those changes now." Martha G. Molder advises junior high girls as the Dean of Girls. She received her B.S. in Education at Bowling Green State University.

Reasoning with unreasonable students is one of the most difficult jobs of the guidance department. Our counselors handle this and other jobs beautifully nearly every day. Helping juniors and seniors choose colleges and careers is an important and very interesting phase of guidance work.

Schedule planning and changing haunt the counselors at every corner. Students must be placed in classes which interest them and help steer them toward the path to success in their chosen fields.

This year Mr. Arthur Schreiber took charge as Dean of Boys, and Mrs Martha Molder as Dean of Girls. Their jobs include attendance and all phases of disciplining students.

No more rewarding job is ever done than that done by these, our guidance counselors and deans.

to Enforce Discipline Code at Elida

Elida's guidance counselor offers good advice to all students who seek his assistance. Mr. Don T. Crites attended Bluffton College and Bowling Green State University to get his A.B. and his masters degree. Collecting books occupies his out of school hours.

The new Dean of Boys this year is Mr. Arthur T. Schreiber. He also teaches boy's health and physical education. Centre College and Ohio State University were schools at which he received his A.B. and M.A. degrees. He is very interested in sports and music, especially playing the piano.

"I'll see you again next week. You're making fine progress." Mrs. Barbara Reigelsberger is Elida's new speech and hearing therapist. She works with students grades 1-12 with speech and hearing problems. Mrs. Reigelsberger received her Bachelors Degree from Bowling Green State University.

Speech Therapist Comes to Elida to Assist with Speech and Hearing Difficulties

This year, for the first time, Elida has a speech and hearing therapist, Mrs. Barbara Reigelsberger. Assisting students in grades 1-12, she works part-time at Elida. She screens the students who are recommended for help and picks those whom she feels she can help most. Her goal is to send the students back to class with little or no difficulties after a few sessions. During the sessions various therapeutic approaches are aimed at the particular problem according to its intensity. Games are used as well as vocal phonic exercises to vary the treatments. The games are especially helpful for students who require long treatment so that the meetings with the therapist are more interesting.

Speech and hearing therapy is a fascinating and rewarding occupation.

"Oh, give me the strength to go on." Mr. Charles E. Cotterman teaches intermediate and advanced algebra, plane geometry, and trigonometry. He received his B.A. and M.A. at Ohio State and Bowling Green State Universities. Spectator sports, fishing, hunting and gardening occupy his spare moments.

Ohio Northern University and Indiana University gave Mr. Donald Leis his B.S. and M.S. in education. He is interested in guns and is an avid trap shooter. Seventh and eighth grade math are the subjects he teaches.

Students in Mr. Cotterman's class learn to concentrate.

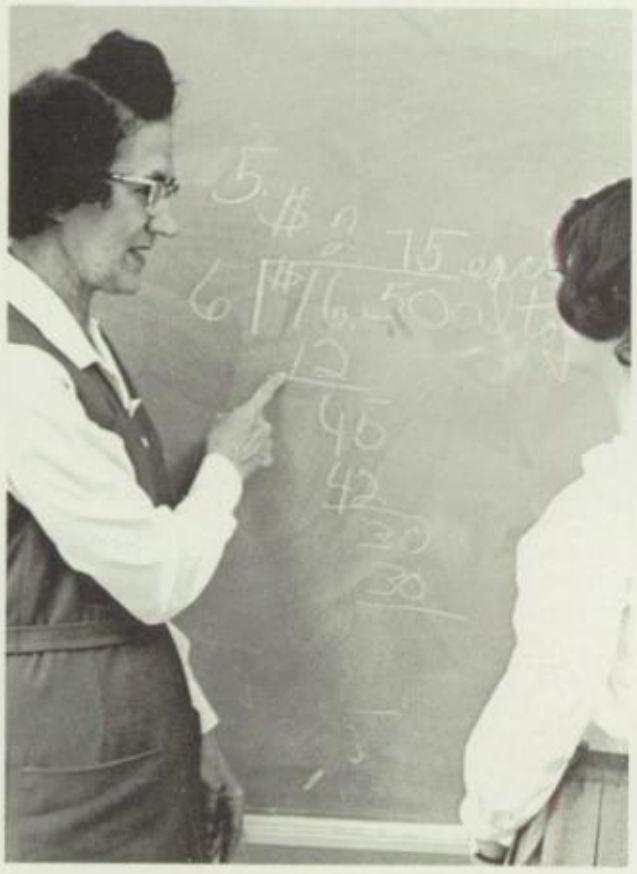
Math Changes With Changing World

Seventh and eighth graders at Elida review the fundamentals of mathematics. Advanced courses are offered to the more ambitious students who wish to gain more intense knowledge about the mathematics courses.

Algebra, geometry, intermediate and advanced algebra and trigonometry are taught to students on the senior high level. These courses teach reasoning and thought better than any other course in the school. The subjects make our math department one of the best in the area.

Math courses have progressed rapidly with the students' search for better and more learned approaches in that field.

Seventh grade math and English are taught by Mrs. Martha G. Molder. She received her B.S. in Education from Bowling Green State University. Her interests include various sports, reading and music.



"John, do you understand this problem?" Mr. James O. Schafer teaches Algebra I, Math 7 and general math. He enjoys hunting and fishing and anything in the sports field. Mr. Schafer received his B.S. at Ohio Northern University, Ada, Ohio.

"Aw, come on. This problem is easy!" Mrs. Mildred Marie Fox teaches seventh and eighth grade math and Algebra I. She went to school at Ohio Northern University. Traveling in the U.S. and Canada and taking color pictures of the scenic countryside are among her interests.

New

Golfing, reading, sewing, and collecting spoons are among the interests of Mrs. Darlene F. McCaughey. She attended Western Illinois University and received her B.S. from Ohio Northern University. She teaches eighth and ninth grade English.

" 'Double, double toil and trouble;' see, it's right here." Mrs. Eva Hinegardner attended Ohio Northern and Indiana State Universities to obtain her B.S. and M.S. degrees. She teaches English 12 and College English. Her interests include reading and deep sea fishing.

Music, poetry and reading are the main interests of Mrs. Rosetta H. Bouvier. Besides teaching freshman English, she is the director of the junior class play. She received her B.S. at Evansville College and her M.A. at Bowling Green.

"Yes, I see your point, but that's just not the right answer." Mrs. Shirley Baldwin teaches seventh and eighth grade English. She attended the University of Toledo and Defiance College. Sports and sewing occupy her spare moments.

"That's right, book reports are due in two weeks." Music and reading are among the hobbies of Mrs. Mildred M. Jacobs. She attended Duquesne University and Ohio Northern University where she received her B.S. degree. She teaches tenth grade English.

College English Stresses Composition

"Friends, Romans, countrymen lend me your ears." Fair is foul and foul is fair." "Once upon a midnight dreary while I pondered weak and weary . . . " These are lines every English student reads, memorizes, recites, and writes.

Skilled English teachers prepare Elida students to communicate effectively and to appreciate literature.

New overhead projectors are used to aid students in the critical analysis of their themes. Wide varieties of dramatic records, including the plays of Shakespeare, bring to life works that could otherwise be dull.

Grades 9 through 11 stress grammar and literature. With the addition of college English in grade 12, the emphasis is switched to composition and English literature.

Pressures on students are greater than ever but better communications are demands of all space age students.

LEFT: "Oh, my goodness, the things one sees in the halls these days!" Mrs. Jayne Campbell teaches tenth grade English. She received her B.S. from Northern University. Her interests include boating, reading, traveling, arguing politics and conversing with friends. BELOW: Mrs. Mozelle Pickering teaches speech and advises the debate team. She attended Ohio Northern University and the Universities of Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, and Eastern Michigan. She enjoys decorating and playing the organ.

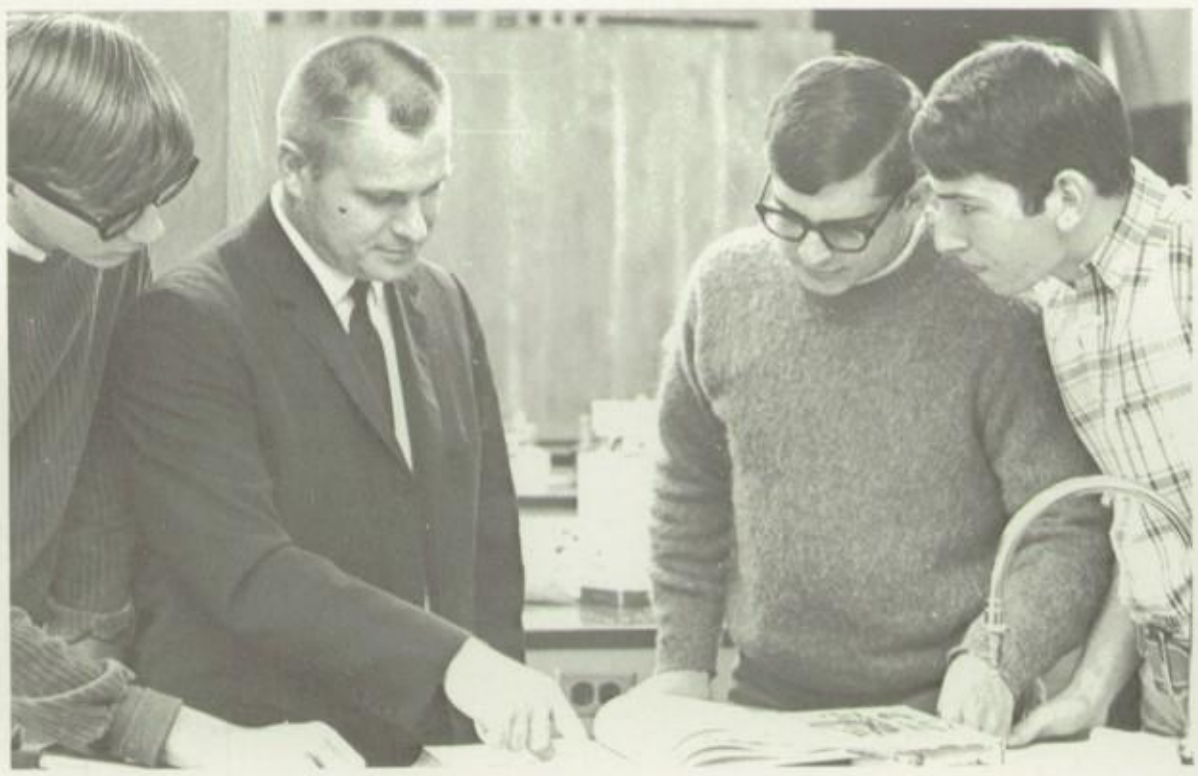
New Tax Levy Permits

Pop! Pop! Pop! Many study hall students wonder what's happening downstairs, but all true physics students know that Mr. Clover is running experiments.

Plans are being made to expand Elida's presently inadequate science facilities. These plans have been made possible by the passage of Elida's 3½ mill levy. Principal Leis asked Mr. Clover if he needed to order any additional equipment. Departments that will benefit from these extra funds are biology, chemistry, physics, home economics, and general science.

From the skills obtained in the scientific art of home economics to the observations made in chemistry students at Elida are given opportunity to learn in the lab. It is the opinion of Elida teachers that students learn best what they see and do in lab for themselves.

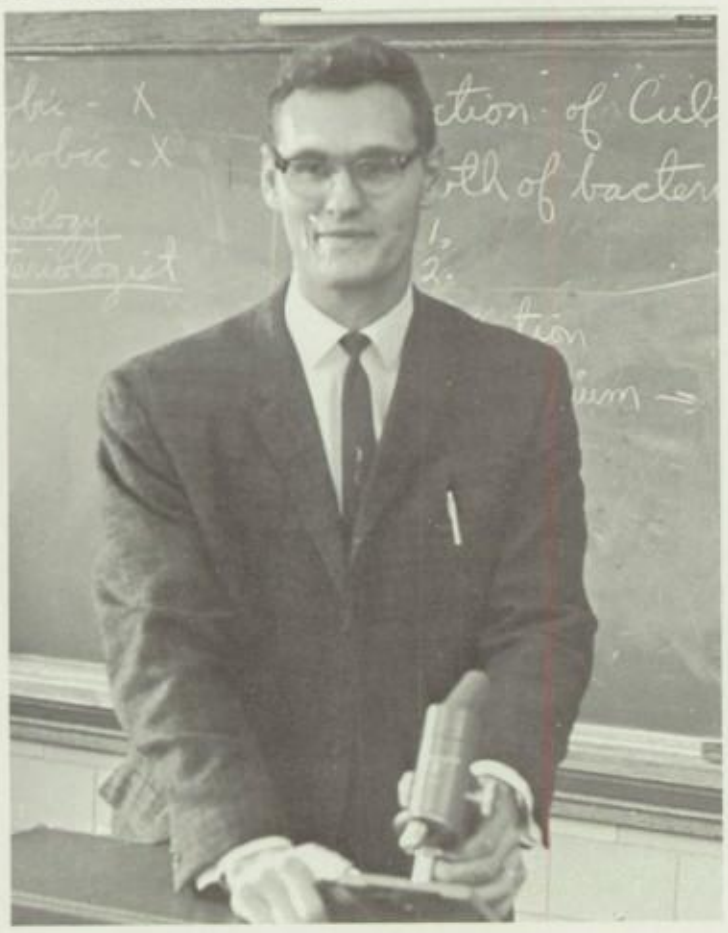
Biology students find aids of more interest than test.



Chemistry, physics teacher Mr. Robert C. Clover graduated from Ohio State University where he received his B.S. degree in education. His summer hours are spent sailing and camping.

Lab Expansion

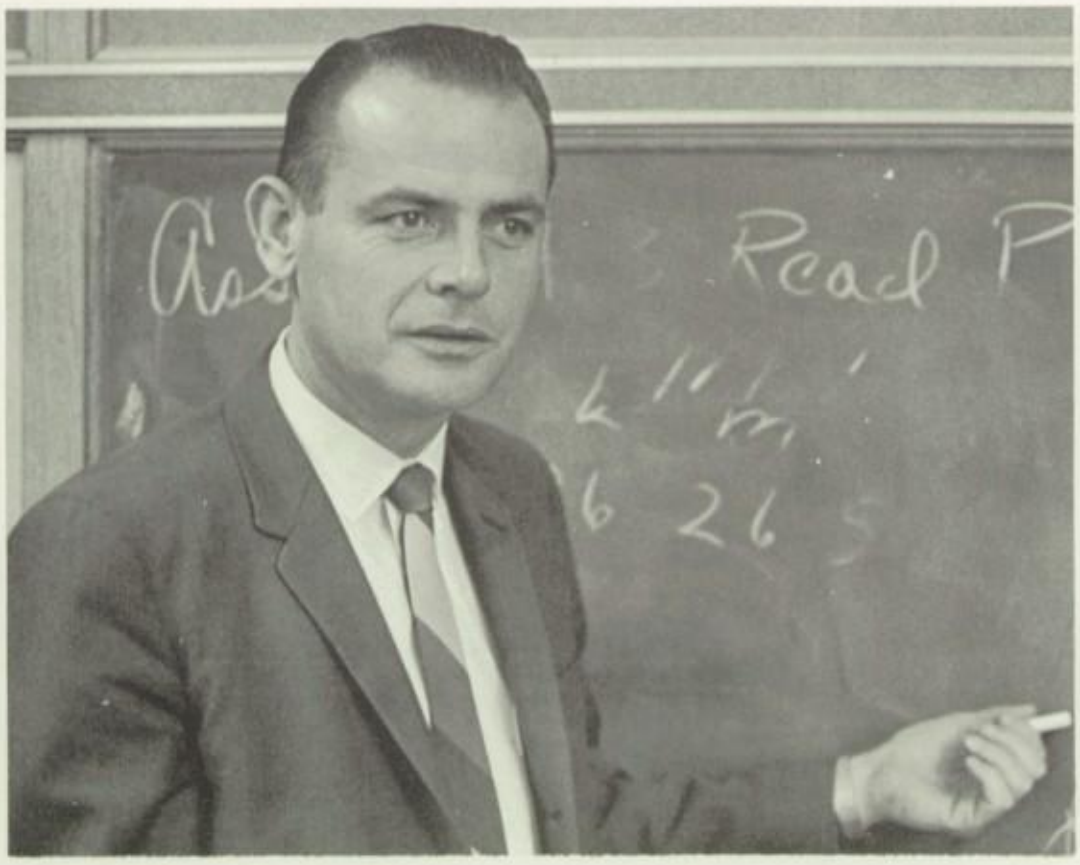
In his leisure time, Mr. Richard W. Prince enjoys hunting, fishing, woodworking, and reading. Receiving his B.S. degree from Findlay College and his M.S. degree from Indiana University, he teaches seventh grade science and health and junior high physical education. He is also coach of varsity baseball, ninth grade basketball and reserve football.



Fishing and playing golf are among the hobbies of Mr. James E. Buffenbarger. He received his M.S. from Indiana University and teaches ninth grade science and biology.

"Alcohol and water mix in any amount," says Margie Dean. "Hic!"

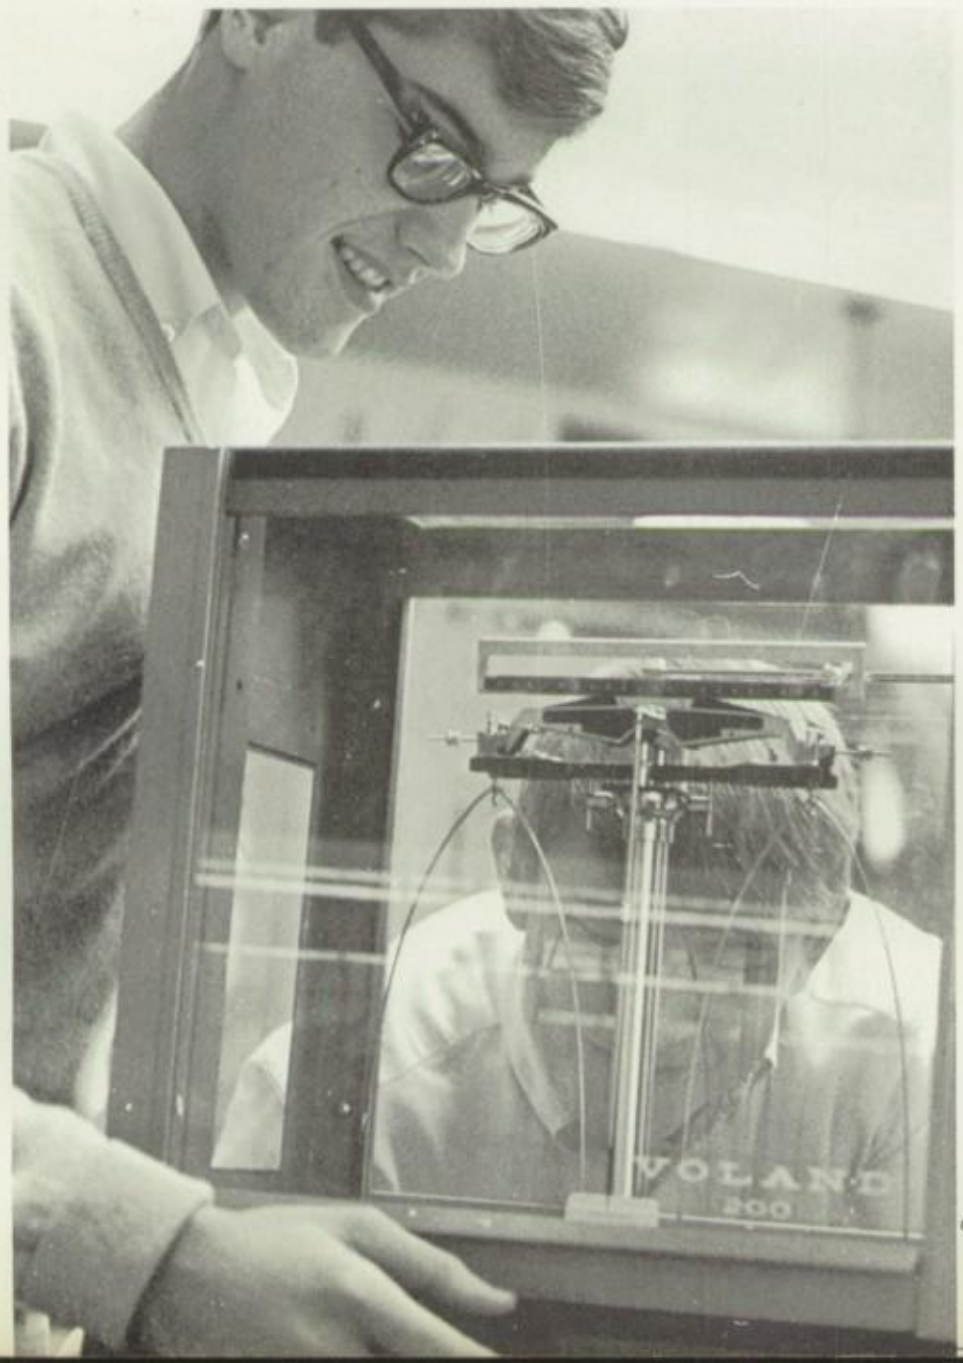
Biology Students Study Organic Chemistry



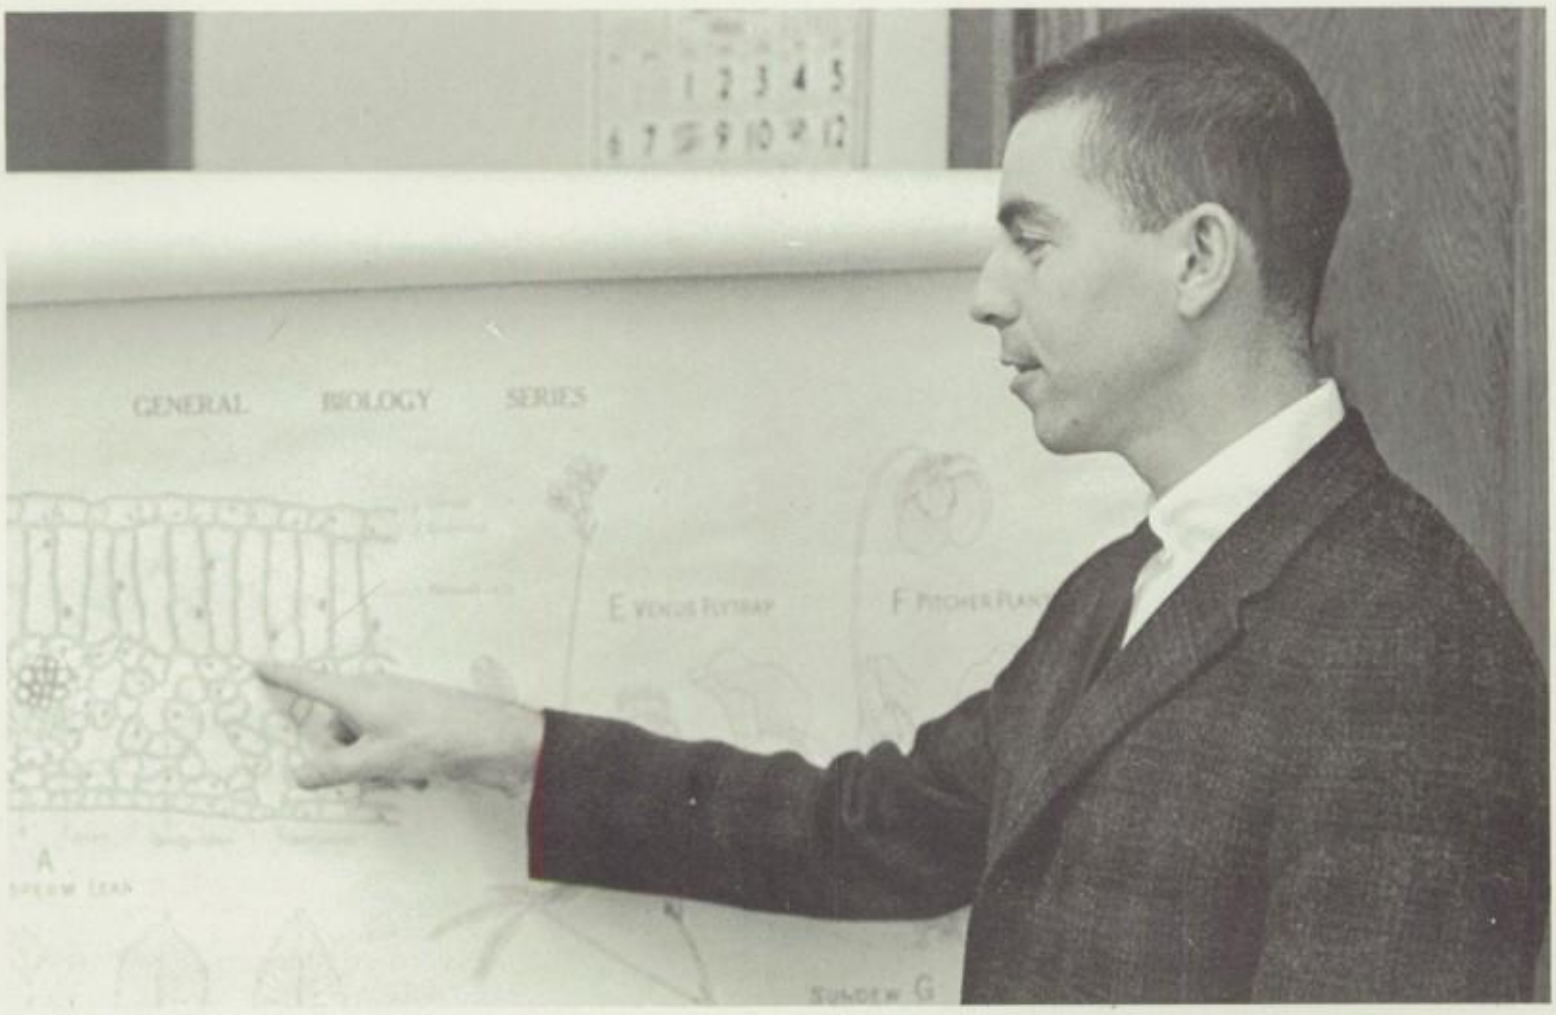
Mr. Charles Neu, teacher of general science and economics, is also advisor of the Junior High Student Council. He received his M.S. at Ohio State University and enjoys golf and history.

Seventh grade boys listen intently in Mr. Donald's science class.

John Lee and Jim Fockler make an attempt to read the analytical balance.



Mr. James R. Donald teaches general science in grades seven through nine. He was graduated from Bowling Green State University where he received his B.S. degree in liberal arts. His hobbies include collecting coins, fishing and other sports.



Biology is taught by Mr. David C. Smith, who received his B.S. from Miami of Ohio and his M.S. from Indiana University. He is coach of the eighth grade basketball team and enjoys watching and participating in athletic contests himself. He also enjoys reading biological material and certain selected TV shows.

Homemaking Becomes An Art

Designing, sewing, and decorating her home are the favorite pastimes of Joanne Guy, advisor of F.H.A. She received her B.S. in home economics education at Ohio State University.

Mrs. Sue D. Clover teaches Jr. High home economics. She received her B.S. in education at Bowling Green State University. Her interests include swimming, sailing, and homemaking.

Sociology, New Interest in Social Studies

Monday, January 23, 1967 . . . termpapers due! In the wee hours of Monday morning, approximately 3:30 A.M., many juniors taking United States history find themselves working desperately on their termpapers. It is a requirement of all juniors at Elida to complete this paper on time in order to receive credit for the course.

Government and sociology aid the student in preparing himself for the ever increasing frustrations of a modern society. He is also afforded with the knowledge and background to become an integral part of the community.

Inflation, deflation, what makes America, what it is, are all ideas brought forth in the economics class. Business and government knowledge is combined. Intensive studies include labor, management, and consumer relations are an interesting change for most students used to dates and names.

History, P.A.D., civics, and economics give the Elida student a top notch social studies department. Without these studies, and the knowledge which they supply about why we live where we do, hold to the principles we do, and in general how we can stand on our own two feet, the graduates would be of little value.

"Please tear out a clean sheet of paper," is constantly heard by all United States and world history students from Mr. Paul E. Sluss. He received his A.B. degree from Heidelberg College and his M.A. degree from Western Reserve University. He is advisor for the senior high student council and the Reflector. Besides following Ohio sports, he enjoys reading and listening to good music.

Hunting, collecting guns, and bowling are enjoyed by Mr. Larry C. Gingrich, teacher of eighth grade and junior United States history. He obtained his B.A. from Bluffton College and has attended Ohio Northern College of Law and American University. At the present he is working toward his M.A. at Indiana University.

Mr. Ralph L. Molder teaches seventh and eighth grade social studies. He received his B.S. from Bluffton College. His main interests are in sports, and he is assistant football coach and head track coach.

In addition to teaching problems of American democracy and United States history, much of the free time of Mr. Larry G. Spees is occupied in swimming and antique refinishing. He is also the advisor of the Bulldog Review. He attended Ohio Wesleyan University where he received his B.A. degree.

Mr. Michael Bruin enjoys golf in his spare time. He teaches civics, Ohio history, and world geography. Holder of a B.S. degree from Ohio Northern University and a M.S. from Indiana University, he is an assistant coach of both football and basketball.

Foreign Languages Offer Advanced Studies

As the more ambitious students at Elida High School dig into varied foreign languages, they find them quite a challenge. This is due to the fact that the Elida foreign language student must accomplish in two years what students in most schools must accomplish in three or four years.

The French, Latin, and Spanish courses offered in Elida's curriculum, however, are made easier by excellent language teachers. Extra work put into these courses such as wall posters, magazines, recording devices, comic books, and other things are helpful as well as interesting to foreign language students.

Mrs. Brenneman smiles approvingly as a student gives the correct translation to a Latin sentence.

Ted Bauer admires the Halloween picture drawn by the students in the Latin class.

Organ playing, gardening, reading, and music are among the hobbies of Mrs. Pearl M. Cohee, teacher of French, girls glee, and girls ensemble. She received her B.A. from Ball State Teachers' College and has done graduate work at Indiana University and University of Oregon.

Pearl M. Cohee

"Millions of English words are derived from Latin," says Mrs. Brenneman as she glances over her Latin derivative tree. Junior English and Latin I and II are taught by Mrs. Caroline Brenneman who receives her B.A. degree from Goshen College and who attended Wittenberg University. Her chief interests include reading and homemaking.

Spanish is taught by Mrs. Martha Kay who enjoys Latin dancing, square dancing, other languages, and sports car rallies. She received her B.S. from Purdue and has done graduate work at the National University of Mexico.

Elida's crowded halls make it almost impossible for students to get from study hall to English class in three minutes.

Practice Sets Give Business Experience

In the business world for an Elida graduate it is not whom he knows, but what he knows. Students are given more than an ample amount of experience in the business department thanks to the well balanced curriculum. The students have opportunity to type such things as inter office memorandums, transcripts, deeds, orders, and wills. These forms come in practice sets which are identical to those used in today's modern offices.

Shorthand aids young secretaries to speed frantically but accurately through a dictation.

Salesmen also have no trouble getting a point across with convincing efficiency because of good instruction.

Mr. Harold F. Adams, who received his B.S. degree from Ohio Northern and M.S. in counseling and guidance at Indiana University, teaches business machines, typing I, and bookkeeping. In his leisure hours, he enjoys reading and walking through the woods.

Mr. Thomas L. Gossard, advisor of F.B.L.A., teaches typing I and II. He received his B.S. and B.D. from Grace College. Christian service, woodworking, and out of door sports are among his interests.

Business machine students, Barb Dyer and Denny Musselman, must learn to operate the ten key adder with proficiency.

Tennis, swimming, traveling, and reading are among the interests of Mrs. Mary Lou Bush. Having received her B.S. degree at Ohio Northern University she teaches shorthand I and II and typing I.

Students, and trying to teach them are the chief interests of Mr. A. J. Kesler. Receiving his B.A. from Ohio Northern and his M.A. from Indiana University, he teaches general business, commercial law, and salesmanship.

Library Contains Nearly 13,500 Books

New shelves were recently added to the high school library to accommodate the ever increasing number of books. Head librarian, Mrs. Margaret Cutter, does an excellent job in keeping the library supplied with new materials of popular demand. Only the best quality of books are to be found in the library.

Elida also has a fine junior high library under the guidance of Mrs. Nellie MacNeil. The books count in this library is also high. In post reports, Elida has two of the best libraries in the area.

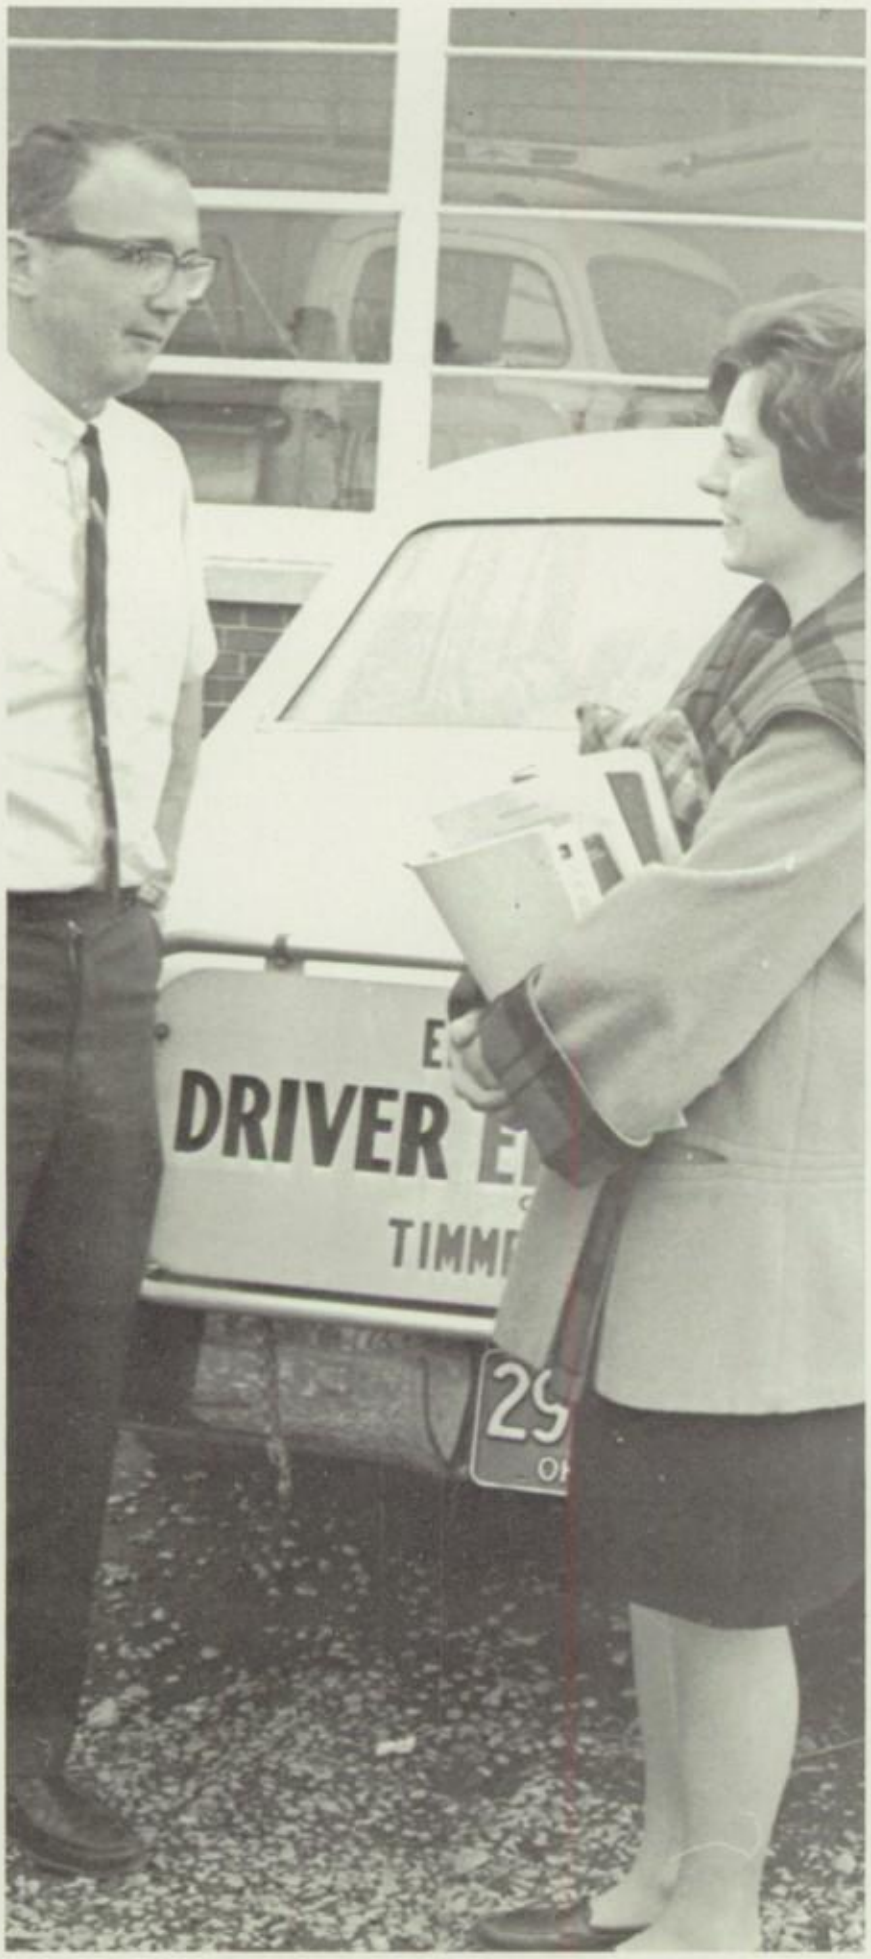
Students enjoy studying in the senior high library.

Junior high librarian is Mrs. Nellie MacNeil.

Assistant librarians in the high school library are Mrs. Bauer and Mrs. Carpenter.

The library system at Elida is under the benevolent guidance of Mrs. Margaret S. Cutter. She is interested in gardening, cooking, and antiques. She received her A.B. at Bowling Green University and her B.L.S. from Drexel Institute of Technology.

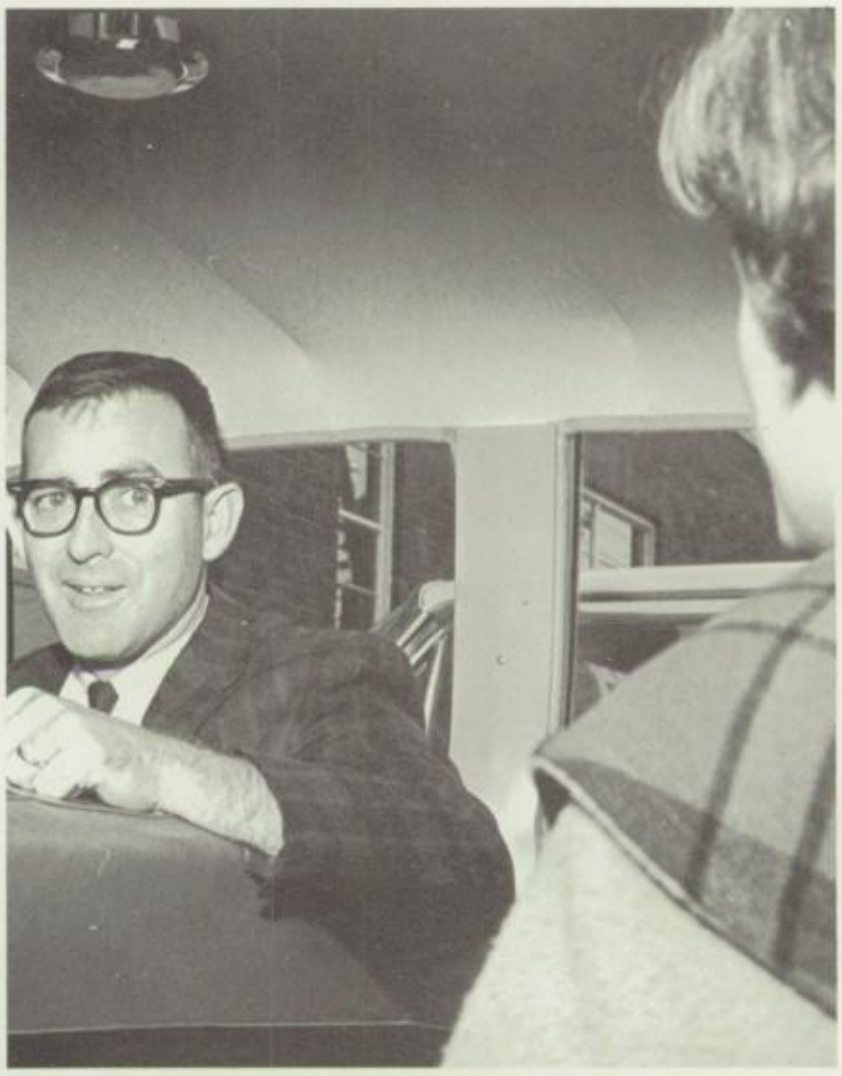
Classes Stress Safety



Besides teaching driver education, Mr. Richard Neil Baldwin instructs physical education and health. He received his B. E. at Toledo University and his M. E. at Bowling Green State University. Being one of Elida's fine coaches, sports are his favorite pastime.

Safety is found to be the most important ingredient in driving by the driver education classes. The classes find that driving is an art rather than simply knowing how to start and stop the car.

The classes study anything about driving from the mechanics of a car to the State Highway Department laws. The class views numerous films on highway safety. One of the noted class projects is making a safety poster. These posters portray the students concern for safety.



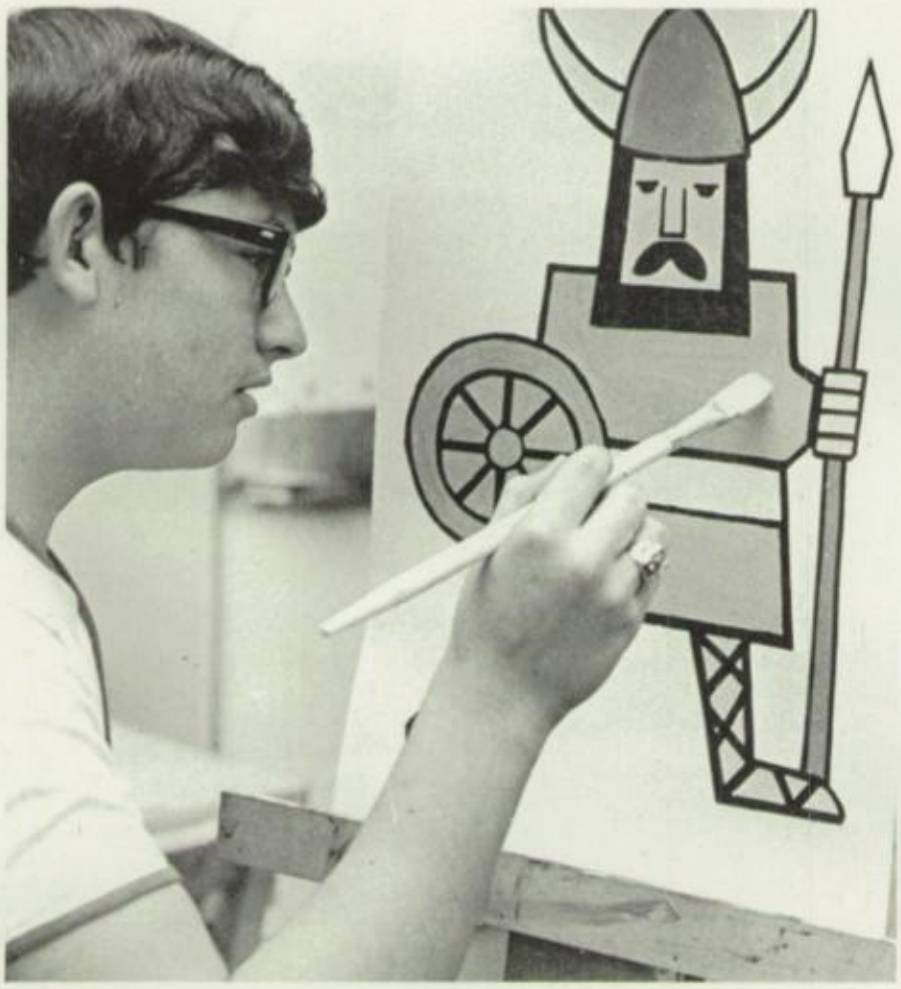
Driver education instructor, Mr. Bruin, confers with student before starting out in training car.

Mr. Baldwin chuckling over test scores.

Arts Students Beautify Cafeteria

In addition to decorating the art room itself, the art classes have spread beauty throughout the school. One of the most attractive spots is in the cafeteria. Here is often found an attractive display of pictures, posters, and abstract designs.

Work done in the art class by students include landscapes, portraits, and designs. Ceramics is also one of their talents. There may not be any da Vinci at Elida, but there are many talented, hard-working individuals.

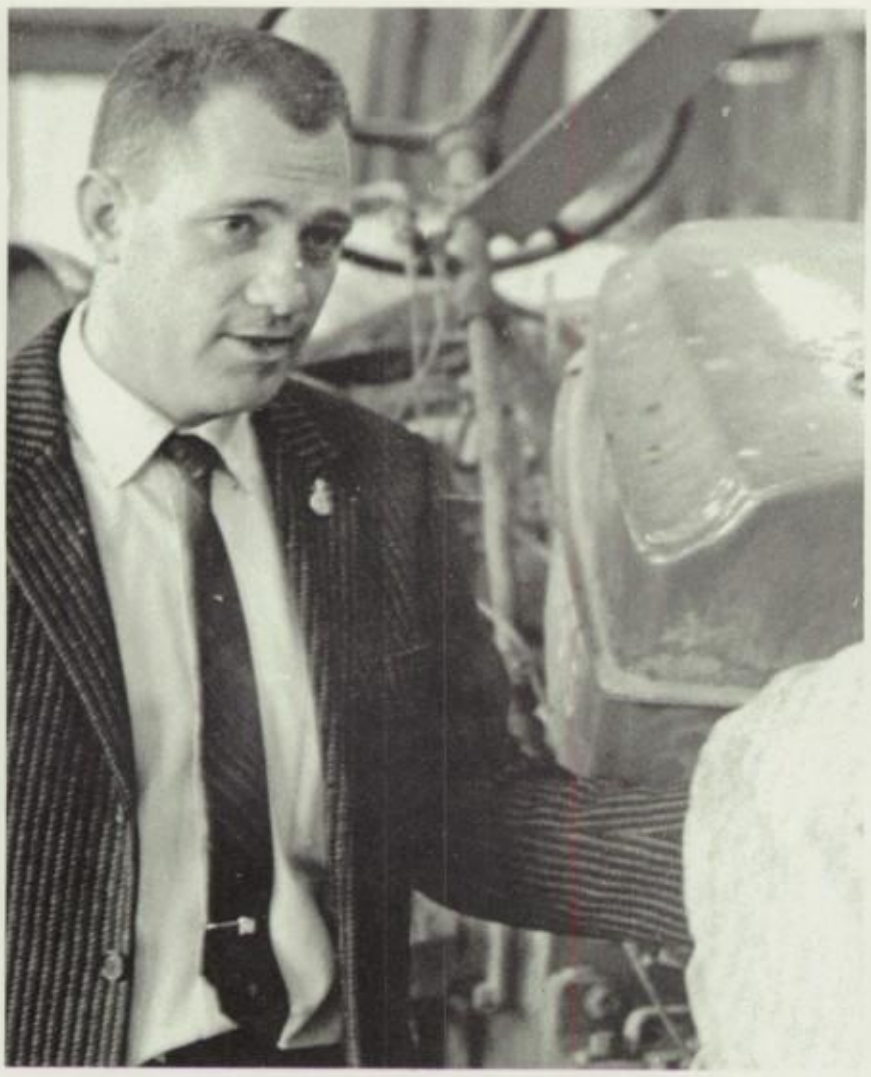


Tom Lehman finishes latest masterpiece.

The art department is under the fine direction of Mr. Emil Ralph White. He received his B.S. at Ohio State University. His interests include maps, painting, and ceramics.

Art students work to perfection.

VO-AG Class Prepares Future Farmers



Vocational agriculture is taught by Mr. George Ellsworth Ropp. He received his B. S. at Ohio State University and is furthering his education at Purdue and Indiana Universities. His hobbies are flying and operating a citizens band radio.

Elida's excellent vocational agriculture department is one reason for our school's outstanding F.F.A. Keeping pace with changing times involves learning an ever-increasing number of agricultural skills. Field trips and special projects such as rebuilding tractors give added skills to vo-ag students.

Golf, fishing, camping, and photography are hobbies of Mr. George R. Greenway, teacher of industrial arts I and III and mechanical drawing. He attended Ohio Northern for his B.S. and Stout State University for his M.S.

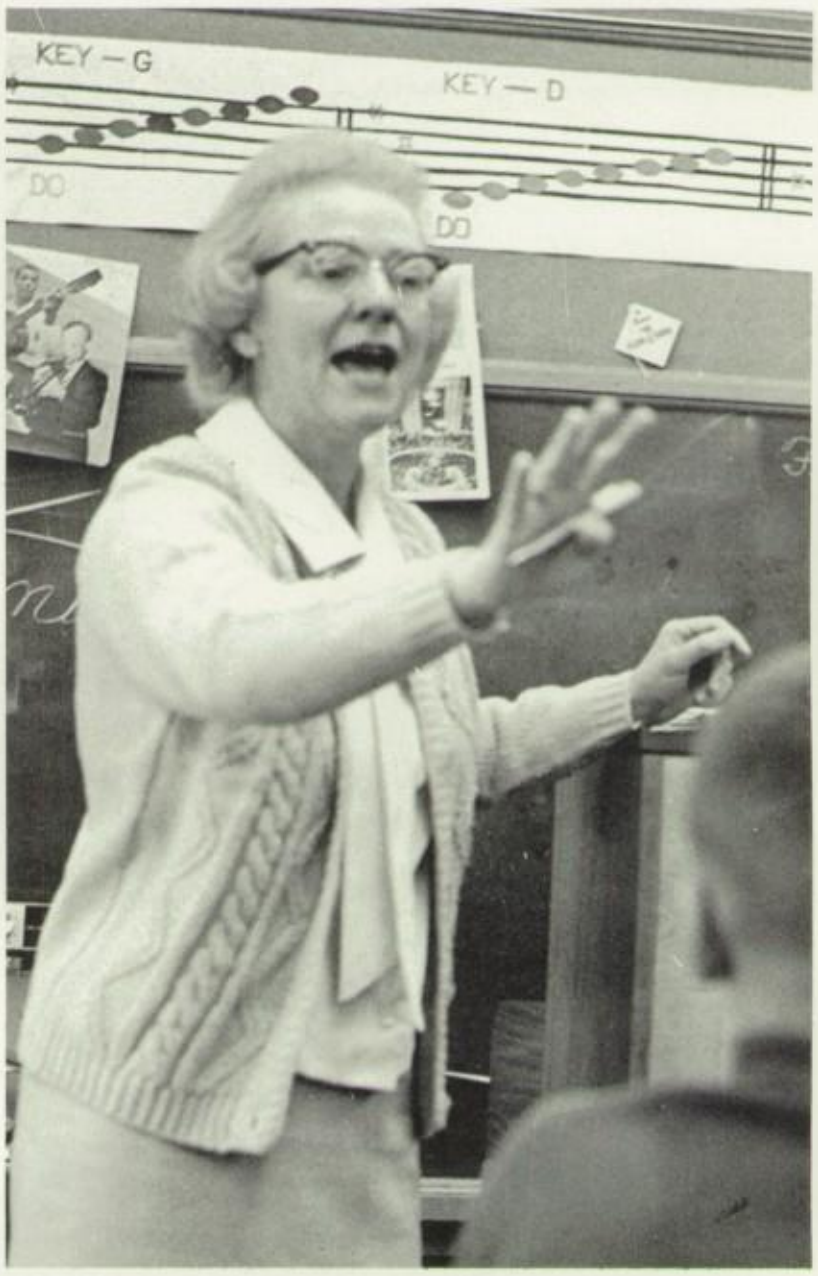
Sports dominate Mr. Gerald Weaver's leisure time. He teaches industrial arts after attending Ohio Northern and Indiana Universities where he earned B.S. and M.S. degrees.

Ron Brenneman gets help in over-hauling his pick-up truck.

Concerts Provided By Music Department

Throughout the year, numerous music performances including concerts and programs are contributed by Elida's outstanding music department under the direction of Mr. Eugene Wollenhaupt and Mrs. Betty Gilmore. The annual Christmas program has become a tradition along with the spring concert in May.

Marching bands, senior concert and Boys' Glee are directed by Mr. Eugene C. Wollenhaupt. Besides music, he is also interested in bowling and auto mechanics. He received his B. S. from Bluffton College. He has also attended the University of Michigan and Indiana University.



Art, fishing and reading fulfill the leisure moments of Mrs. Betty Ann Gilmore. She received her B. S. at College of Mt. St. Joseph. She teaches junior high music and choruses.

Camera catches band unaware as they practice for the Christmas Concert.

Intramural Teams Compete

Competitive spirits are high in both boys' and girls' physical education classes, but the instructors find that many individuals are physically unfit. Steps are being taken to correct the matter. For instance, in the boys' classes, tumbling is being offered along with calisthenics, basketball, kickball, and other rigorous activities.

Miss Edwards, instructor of girls' physical education, puts the girls through calisthenics like the boys' but modified somewhat. For sports the girls play basketball, volley-ball and deck tennis.

Strong bodies are noticed to be taking shape slowly but surely in all physical education classes.

Eric Bunn, Mike Baxter and Mitch Furrey show the others how to do the "Monkey Roll."

Left: Besides advising senior high G.A.A., Block E, and varsity and reserve cheerleaders, Miss Dorothy Edwards teaches health and girls' physical education classes. She received her B.S. degree at Findlay College and her M. Ed. at Bowling Green State University.

Reading and gardening are the interests of Mrs. Mary Rampe, the school nurse. She received her R.N. at the university of Michigan and B.A. degree at Bowling Green State University. Accidents incurred during intramurals and in phys. ed. classes keep her busy.

Split Noon Hour Ends Congested Lines

Due to the creation of two shifts this year, whereby students arrive and leave school at different times, our cafeteria lines have been relieved of their former congestion. No longer must Elida students wait endlessly in line for their meals. As a result of this change, our lunch schedule is more efficient and better able to serve the students and teachers of Elida.

Cleaning and washing trays is done by Isabel Kruse, Alma Pantana, Marge Barnt, and Joan Moore.

Mrs. Francis Hall holds the responsible position of cafeteria cashier.

Velma Good, Helen Sellers, Madalin Heatwole, Marie Sevitz, Margaret Lee, and Ladona Strayer prepare to serve a meal.

"What's this?" asks Steve Wallace.

Dorothy Koch, Janet Stemen, Juanita Burt, and Avonalle Palmer concoct another meal.

Schedule Change Involves Mechanics

Mechanics, Mr. Wilbur Wells and Mr. Woodrow Baxter overhaul a bus.

Introduction of a new schedule this year, requires the busses to make two runs daily, both morning and evening. This puts more responsibility on the mechanics. They must see that the busses are in constant running condition and safe for student transportation. The mechanics must also see that the busses are kept on as nearly a precise a schedule as possible.

Mr. Floyd Morris heads the custodian staff.

Joe Bilimek, Menno Good, and Lloyd Blaine are Elida's fine janitors.

Frosh Scholars Dominate Representation

Elida's academic equivalent to athletic achievement's Varsity E is Scholarship E. There is no greater accomplishment than membership on the Scholarship E which is sponsored by the Student Council.

Few students earn the 25 points necessary to secure the coveted E. Certain numbers of points are awarded for various activities or achievements such as, "making the honor roll," eligibility for scholarship tests, district or state ranking in scholarship returns, and membership in the Ethan Allen Honor Society.

The Ides of March are upon us . . . the Scholarship Tests! Teachers in each course choose the students who are eligible to take the tests. After the tests have been given and the results tallied, the three students who ranked highest in each section of the tests may go to Ohio Northern University at Ada, to compete in the Final District State Scholarship Tests. Those who rank high in these tests may receive district or state recognition and honors.

Band Wins At Van Wert

"One, two, three, four, hey you on the end, straighten up that row," shrieks the row captain as the band marches in one of the many summer parades throughout Ohio. It has been the custom of the band to compete in as many parades as possible outside of Elida. As a result, Elida has been praised on the local and state level. The band won first place at the Van Wert competition this summer. Special performances at Coney Island and Cedar Point marked the highlights of their summer travel.

The last week in August was spent at Camp Palmer in an attempt to put together the football half-time shows. Bad food, cabin raiding, and latrine duty, bewildered the counselors and encouraged band members to work harder in order to get home sooner.

Weather surprises the band. Members find they must march through mud and water to perform in senior's last football game.

8th Grade Chorus Gains Superior Rating

"Hey, you boys in the back," screams Mrs. Gilmore, "be quiet and pay attention or get out." These may seem like sharp words to some of us, but to the junior high chorusers it means immediate silence and attention to their instructor, Mrs. Gilmore. During the last two years that Mrs. Gilmore has been in charge the choruses have greatly expanded. The number of performances have exceeded all previous years, and their size has practically doubled.

The Area Junior High Music contest was held here last year and our choruses put forth an outstanding effort at their performance. Mrs. Gilmore believes that the next year's contest should also rate superior.

High praise was given to the junior band after its skillful exhibition presented at the Perry game. Long hours of individual practice on the part of each member, and a lot of creative writing by the director, Mr. Gene Wollenhaupt, were required to make the junior band the best and most capable junior high instrumental organization in the history of Elida.

"I must not have got enough sleep last night," says Lois Hall to Pat Shawran. "This used to be a tuba."

Ensembles Win Superior Rating At State

"Cinnamon, cinnamon, don't forget the cinnamon . . . fruitcake." Mrs. Cohee can breathe easy, the girls ensembles have finally mastered the fruitcake song. Any Elida student interested in singing should be able to find his place in the school's varied music program. There is junior and senior ensemble for the girls, under the leadership of Mrs. Pearl Cohee; while, all boys in grades nine through twelve, interested in doing something in music, may join the boy's glee, directed by Mr. Gene Wollenhaupt. The mixed chorus is open to both boys and girls in the high school level; it, too, is directed by Gene Wollenhaupt. The highlight of the year in the choral department was the superior rating won at state contest last spring.

"Now girls," says Mrs. Cohee as she taps her pencil on the music stand, "let's have it quiet in here." These words bring immediate attention to Mrs. Pearl Cohee, the instructor of the Girls' Glee. Under her able direction, the Girls' Glee has won countless honors and always rank high in their contest performances.

Through many long hours of study and practice, Elida's Girls' Glee has become one of the better musical organizations in our area. Their exceptional ability and outstanding programs given for the student body, provides the students at Elida with a lift in spirits.

Losing Season for Schreiber's Bulldogs

Compiling a mediocre 3-4-2 record, it would appear that the Bulldogs had a poor football season. "However," said Coach Schreiber, "they had the finest." Faced with seemingly insurmountable odds: a line which averaged just barely over 150 pounds, a team almost entirely manned by underclassmen, and several key injuries, the Bulldogs still performed admirably. Probably the Homecoming game with Bluffton was the high point of the year. Against Ohio's fourth ranked A team, the gallant Bulldogs held the Pirates to a standstill most of the game before bowing 12-0.

Throughout the year Elida, which was coached by Art Schreiber for the sixteenth straight year, was led by one of the Northwest Conference's best defenses. All-City guard Bob Barnt, who was also chosen most valuable player by his teammates, was the key of the defensive squad which gave up only 12 points a game.

All things taken into account, this was, as Coach Schreiber said, " . . . one of my most satisfying and rewarding years at Elida."

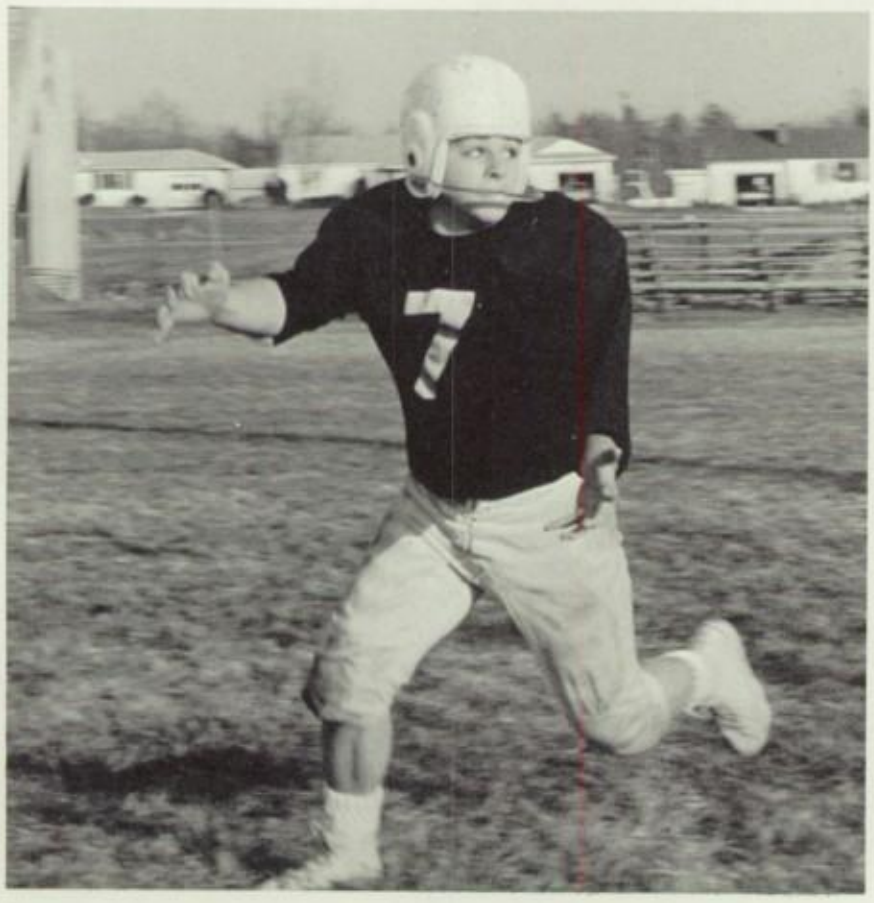
2-1-1 Record for Promising Bullpups



Doug Fett hauls in a long pass.

Elida's seventh and eighth grade football team finished with a very respectable 2-1-1 record in 1966. Led by Coach James Schafer, who has turned out winning teams year after year, the young Bulldogs closed the season with two strong victories over Delphos Jefferson and Ottawa Glandorf. More hard work coupled with their junior high experience will make these boys the varsity stars of the future at Elida.

Bulldog's Finish in Middle of N.W.C. Race

Defeated but undaunted, the Elida Bulldogs struggled through a 7-12 season in varsity basketball. Starting the season with four straight losses, it seemed that a disastrous season was unavoidable. The Bulldogs, however, bolstered their offense and salvaged five wins in their last ten games.

Leading the Bulldogs' late surge were Rick Huebner and Terry Burkholder, two of Lima's leading scorers, and sophomore guard Rick Schmenk, who was elevated to the varsity level in mid-season. They provided Coach Baldwin's Bulldogs the floor leadership and stability which strengthened the entire squad.

Winning Season For Elida Junior Varsity

While the varsity was having its problems, the Elida reserve basketball team posted a fine 11-6 record. Paced by Gerald Eagy, Mark Thompson, and sophomore Bob Kiracofe, the reserves followed an opening loss to Lima Central Catholic with six straight wins.

Coached by Mr. Mike Bruin, the reserves showed signs of raising Elida's sagging basketball fortunes in years to come.

Winning is certainly nothing new to Elida's freshman teams. In seven years, Coach Prince has compiled a fantastic 71-26 record! The teamwork, hustle and pride instilled in these young athletes by Mr. Prince will, hopefully, make the next several years of varsity basketball prosperous at Elida.

Baseball 1966

Posting an outstanding season record of 16-5, Elida fielded one of the most successful baseball teams in its history. Adding further honor to the school, the Bulldogs also captured the Northwest Conference Championship by defeating Allen East 5-4 in the most thrilling game of the year.

Dave Warris and Chuck Hofius were the Bulldog pitching stars, while Denny Musselman, Bill Bowers, Jim Baxter, and Sophomore Lonnie Lehman provided the power at the plate. The Bulldogs' 1966 season record is as follows:

Golfers Not Quite up to Par in '66

No pun intended, but actually the Elida golf team was slightly over par this year. Following the pattern of previous years, the Bulldog golf squad suffered a losing year as they finished with a 1-5 record. By soundly thrashing Pandora 13-4, they managed to help an otherwise disappointing record.

Coach George Greenway hopes for a better season next year as veterans John Beckman, Joe Porreca and Greg Coon will anchor the Elida golf team.

Cindermen Suffer Disappointing Season

Nice guys finish last. With an abundance of nice guys, the Bulldog track team suffered one of its most tragic seasons of the past few years. Defeat followed defeat as the cindermen's second place finish at the Bath Triangular Meet was one of the few bright spots of the season. Also, senior strong man Dick Roethlisberger totaled an outstanding sum of 68 points for the year, more than the rest of the team's combined points. Roethlisberger also represented the Elida track squad capably at the District Meet.

Besides the fantastic performance of Roethlisberger the Bulldog track team also received creditable performances from seniors Dan Lucas and Bob Markwood. Both of these veteran runners competed ably and anchored the 440 and 880 relay teams. They totaled 29½ and 29 points respectively.

But in spite of their proud performances the Bulldogs were still winless in their 10 track meets. Manned predominately by underclassmen and without benefit of a track they did as well as could be expected. Ralph Molder said few teams would have fared as well under similar circumstances.

Bowling Highlights Girls' Sports Year—'67

One of the lesser appreciated but most important phases of the Elida sports program is girls' sports. Over 150 girls are active in sports at Elida as this program is easily one of the most widely supported activities.

This year during carnival activities, the junior girls defeated the senior girls 12-0 in the first Powder Puff Football game at Elida. The game was riotous as the crowd enjoyed it immensely.

Another phase of girls' sports was bowling. Every other week over 100 girls participate. Basketball is still another activity Elida girls compete in. This year they defeated meek Shawnee 25-22. At press time, the varsity had also defeated Spencerville 39-23 and Wapakoneta 24-19. Eight games are scheduled later, however.

All of these activities plus track provide Elida girls wholesome competition and recreation.

23 Tapped For Honor Society Membership

Honor student, Barb Lemke, agrees that better grades can be made when lessons are typed.

"Who made the Honor Society?" This was the big question among the seniors until February 21. It was then that the Honor Society list was posted, and twenty-three lucky candidates were inducted. These twenty-three were chosen on the basis of character, service and leadership from thirty-eight eligible seniors representing the top 25% of the class academically. A candidate's character is determined by his courtesy and integrity, as judged by his teachers. Among service traits is the willingness to serve in the school community. While leadership is based on the student's influence on others, his ability to be a good follower is considered important.

Special honors within the organization were afforded Myrdith King and John Lee, ranking first and second in their class scholastically. Both took the traditionally difficult college preparatory course.

It's Happened . . .

It Has Happened . . . .

We've just completed a happening, or rather, a series of happenings: the school year — March 1966 to March 1967. The Reflector Staff members worked hard — usually — to portray the events making this school year different.

It was a year of disappointment — losing teams in athletics, compulsory haircuts for boys; it was a year of triumph — more Elida students scoring high in the state academics achievement tests than students from any area school. Clubs prospered — the new room for the student councils, state and national offices captured by the F.B.L.A. and F.F.A., and continued high national ratings for the yearbook.

Staff members look with pride on the 1967 Reflector. We argued, occasionally fought, sometimes compromised, but always strove to maintain the high standards set by previous Reflector staffs. Now it has happened. The Book.

We are grateful to the students, teachers and administrators for not protesting too much when we interrupted proceedings for picture-taking; to The Lima News for granting us the right to rummage through their sports files; to Mr. James Spencer, our Delmar representative, for his services, and to Mr. Hoverman of Hoverman Studios for taking all formal pictures and for developing many staff photographs. To all those mentioned here we say, "Thanks Baby!" and "Ciao!"
